Auto Sales Agency, Garage Hit

Damage Placed At $7,000 In Midland Fire And Blast

Damage has been estimated at $7,000 in a fire and explosion which struck the Midland Auto Sales agency and garage at Midland Ave. and 9th St., Midland, late Friday night.

Vito Monaco, 18, son of one of the co-owners, Cole Young of Midland Heights and other youths were on Midland Ave. near the community youth center when they heard the explosion and saw smoke at the building and turned in the alarm at 11:50.

MONACO RAN to the agency and broke through a door to find the building full of smoke. As he tried to get to the second-floor area, he was knocked downstairs by a second explosion.

He and the other youths immediately began moving out cars and carrying out equipment.

Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri said the fire apparently was ignited by a defective electric line in the storeroom area near a transite pipe from hot water heater to the roof. Further investigation is planned today.

He said the blaze may have been smouldering for some time, and the extreme heat caused capped 6-foot drive shafts stored near the pipe to explode almost like rockets.

One drive shaft was plummeted through the west wall of the brick building onto a next door lawn, where it burned the grass.

A 6-inch hole was smashed through the wall. Several of the shafts were stored in cardboard boxes.

The roof in the area about the transite exhaust pipe was collapsed.

—:—

THERE WAS damage in the two unoccupied apartments over the agency, which is owned by Tony Monaco of Midland and James Blakeslee of Industry.

The Robert Myers family had moved out of one of the apartments four days ago.

The borough aerial truck and emergency truck with 17 firemen responded to the alarm.

The blaze was brought under control in 15 minutes. Chief D'Itri said. However, firemen remained at the scene for two hours. Some 600 feet of hose were employed.

Firemen Paul Anthony and Jo D'Itri suffered slight smoke inhalation and were given oxygen.

The rear wall of the apartments was burned and the tar composition roof damaged. There was water damage in the upstairs and downstairs areas.

The loss was covered by insurance, authorities said.

The youths moved out nine autos — none of them 1968 models.

Agency officials said the firm opened for business as usual today.

Among the youths who assisted were Harry Boyd, Walt Marciniak, Ray Stowitzky, Mike Doyle, Gary Lovejoy, Marine Lance Cpl. Mike Brozic and John Ordich.

Bricklayers OK Terms, Construction Tieup Ends

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bricklayers came to contract terms today, ending a construction strike that at one time idled 11 craft unions and tied up hundreds of millions of dollars in construction in the Pittsburgh district.

Local 2 of the Bricklayers Union settled for a wage increase of $1.50½ an hour over a three - year period and improved fringe benefits, with some items still to be settled by arbitration.

The some 1,200 bricklayers who had been on strike since June 1 will return to work Monday, said Tom Lane, state deputy attorney general.

Local 2 and the Masons Contractors Association agreed to binding arbitration. William Hart, state secretary of Labor and Industry, was picked as arbitrator.

Among the half - dozen items still unresolved are jurisdictional disputes, travel allowances and shift differentials.

The settlement was announced by Lane and Joseph Kelley, secretary to Gov. Shafer, who had been sent to the talks by Shafer.

The bricklayers were the last to come to terms out of about 25,000 building tradesmen who had been on strike at one time or another during the summer in Western Pennsylvania and parts of Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia. Most of the unions struck June 1 after their old contracts expired.

In addition to bricklayers, the strikers included ironworkers, carpenters, operating engineers, painters, lathers, roofers, stone masons, boilermakers, plasterers and sheet metal workers. Other workers, even though they weren't on strike, were affected because the strike curtailed their work. And even after some unions settled, their members were unable to return to their jobs until other striking craftsmen came to terms.

The strike was costly in terms of delayed building projects and lost wages. Neither union nor industry spokesmen can say how much money was involved, but they estimate it was in the millions.

Negley Calls School Town Meeting Sunday

EAST PALESTINE—A "town meeting." to which all residents of the East Palestine School District have been invited, has been called for Sunday night at 7:30 at the Negley Fire Station concerning school issues.

The parents of the fourth graders have been sending their pupils to the Negley School to wait for authorities to act instead of allowing them to be transported to East Palestine schools.

U.S. Planes Hit Hard At Cong's Guns

Ground Fighting Goes On As Allies Bid To Slow Reds

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers aimed tons of explosives today at North Vietnamese guns threatening the South, after fighter- bombers dodged heavy defenses and flew within 20 miles of Red China to blast a jammed rail yard.

Three waves of the eight-engine B52s struck artillery and rocket launchers in the demilitarized zone to prevent them from harassing U.S. Marines in northern South Vietnam, already busy chasing reinforced Red troops. The B52s also made one of their infrequent raids north of the zone Friday night to attack the Communist gun positions. The big planes generally stay away from North Vietnam to avoid Red surface-to-air missiles.

Despite the B52 raids, Communist rockets hit the sandbagged Marine outposts at Con Thien just below the DMZ and wounded 40 Marines.

Some sharp ground fighting continued in northern South Vietnam, where allied forces are trying to keep the enemy off balance and foil whatever strategy the Reds have for their built-up forces in the area.

South Vietnamese troopers sweeping in Quang Ngai Province, the southern boundary of the threatened five-province northern zone, reported five running fights with a fast-moving guerrilla force. They said the Communists left 40 dead. They also reported capturing 17 wounded guerrillas and 27 weapons.

In the air raids far above the DMZ, the U.S. Command said, American pilots encountered Soviet-built missiles, heavy antiaircraft fire and Communist MIG fighters. The MIGs fled when Air Force jets challenged them.

Despite the heavy fire, no losses were reported. But in South Vietnam. Communist ground fire brought down a Marine F4Phantom, the 204th announced combat plane loss over the South. The two fliers aboard parachuted and were picked up safe in the Tonkin Gulf.

The deepest air blow into North Vietnam hit the Lang Dang railyard, 20 miles below the Chinese border and on the northeast rail line which is Hanoi's main artery to Red China.

No Wonder We're Tired!

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Middle age ends at 65, but it begins at 26, according to an expert who works for President Johnson's Physical Fitness Council.

Dr. Thomas K. Cureton told a group of Philadelphia public school teachers Friday that after 26, a person begins to lose some of his physical skills and powers. He said top physical condition occurs between 17 and 26.

Also speaking at a two-day physical fitness institute conducted by the Philadelphia Board of Education was C. Carson Conrad, director of the California Health, Education and Physical Education Bureau. He called for teacher rededication to physical fitness for pupils.

Conrad said all pupils can and should be in good shape, not only those participating in school sports.

'68 Miss America Will Be Crowned At Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A dream comes true tonight for the young woman who will be crowned Miss America of 1968.

Along with the fame and glamor, the title is worth an estimated $100,000 in personal fees and scholarships during her year-long reign.

The crowning climaxes three days of preliminary competition which ended Friday night with a pre-med student from Idaho and a baton twirler from Florida sharing the honors.

Miss Idaho, Kristine Phillips, a green-eyed blonde, premedical student at the University of Utah, won the swim suit division with her 36-22-36 figure. She stands 5-foot-7 and weighs 118 pounds.

With tears welling in her eyes from the excitement of victory, Kristine said she wants to find a cure for a major cause of blindness.

"I want to do research on how to fuse a severed optic nerve back together," she explained.

The 19-year-old sophomore, who's father is an optometrist, said she became interested in blindness 10 years ago when a girlfriend lost her sight in an accident.

Kristine is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips of Rupert, Idaho.

Miss Florida, Dawn Cashwell who kept her stage composure after she dropped her baton at the height of her act, went on to victory in the talent round.

"I couldn't believe the act was going so smoothly," she exclaimed with a smile," but then I couldn't believe the baton slipped out of my hand."

Dressed in midnight-blue velvet tights, she danced and twirled the baton to the Latin tune "Blue Tango." The 7,600 spectators in Convention Hall gave the 22-year-old brunette a rousing ovation.

Dawn, a junior at the University of West Florida, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.T. Cashwell of Pensacola. Her father is a retired Navy pilot.

Tobin Will Rule On Water Action

LISBON — The proposed St. Clair water system is "turned off" temporarily pending a decision by Judge Louis Tobin of Columbiana County Probate Court.

More than 50 crowded his courtroom Friday for a hearing on the county commissioners' motion to dismiss an appeal filed early last month by six St. Clair Township residents.

They claim the costs — $3 per front foot assessment and "excessive" water rates—would exceed the benefits derived. They ask the court to declare the improvement unnecessary.

THEIR APPEAL is from the commissioners' July 27 action to proceed with construction of the $621,000 system for Glenmoor, Calcutta and Gaston Pl. Commissioners took action after holding public hearings June 29 and July 14 at Lisbon.

The appellants are Karl Deshler, Route 170; Roy F. Seitz, substation, RD 2; Paul J. Vincent, Y.&O. Rd., RD 1; John Geisz, Substation Rd.; Jack F. Wain Jr., Maple Dr., Calcutta, and Thelma McIntosh St., Glenmoor.

Dave Rowlinson of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Cleveland legal firm, said it is the commissioners' position that the appeal should be dismissed because the appellants did not meet the statutory requirement of giving written notice of intention to appeal before the July 27 resolution.

Rowlinson read from the state code: "Any persons, firm or corporation desiring to appeal from the final order or judgment of the board upon any of the questions mentioned . . . shall on or before the date of the passage of the improvement resolution give notice in writing of an intention to appeal, specifying therein the matters to be appealed from."

Rowlinson said the statute has been upheld by appellate courts and the Ohio Supreme Court.

Detroit Paper Hits 'Blurt, Retreat'

Step Aside For 'Rocky,' 'News' Urges Of Romney

WASHINGTON (AP) — A home state newspaper's suggestion that Michigan Gov. George Romney get out of the way appeared to project New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller into the middle of the contest for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

In an unprecedented home base blast at a presidential hopeful, The Detroit News said in an editorial to be published Sunday that Romney's "blurt and retreat habit'" of dealing with Vietnam and other foreign problems disqualified him from seeking the presidency. The News said Rockefeller, who has disclaimed any further presidential ambitions, "knows what he believes and has the capacity to express his convictions" and should be brought into the picture.

Romney, who had no advance warning of this blast from a newspaper which has been one of his staunchest backers in three successful campaigns for governor, called the editorial "very amusing."

Judge Says City Should Raise Wages

Some Of Workers Heard To Declare They Won't Return

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Youngstown police and firemen who left their jobs in a pay dispute, were ordered back to work today by a Common Pleas Court judge who granted an injunction against the strike.

"There is no right to strike against the public safety," said Mahoning County Judge Sidney Rigelhaupt.

The temporary order said the officers and firemen must come back to work immediately or be held in contempt of court. But some police and firemen said when leaving the courtroom that they would not report for work.

Rigelhaupt also told the city that they should grant a pay raise to the police and firemen and to take whatever steps necessary to get the money.

"This situation has gone far beyond the question of politics. If the levying of additional taxes (for pay raises) will result in the defeat of the mayor and members of Council, so be it. The public safety must be maintained."

Don L. Hanni, an attorney for the police and firemen, said they would go back to the Fraternal Order of Police Hall and discuss their next move.

"From the tone of the judge's statement," he said, "I would say that he had enjoined the city as well as us."

The decision came after an all-night meeting between city officials and representatives of the safety forces. Police and firemen reportedly turned down an offer from Mayor Anthony Flask and councilmen to put a five-mill levy on a special December ballot if they would return to work immediately.

Taking part in the negotiations were James Harrison of Philadelphia, national president of the Fraternal Order of Police, and Ray Perry of Washington, an administrative assistant for the International Firefighters Association.

The decision came after an all-night meeting between city officials and representatives of the safety forces. Police and firemen reportedly turned down an offer from Mayor Anthony Flask and councilmen to put a five-mill levy on a special December ballot if they would return to work immediately.

Taking part in the negotiations were James Harrison of Philadelphia, national president of the Fraternal Order of Police, and Ray Perry of Washington, an administrative assistant for the International Firefighters Association.

13 Left Dead As Hurricane Keeps Rolling

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — With 13 persons dead in her wake, Hurricane Beulah thundered across the Caribbean Sea today toward Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

The 13 victims were counted on the island of Martinique. Homes were destroyed, flood waters poured three feet deep down streets in Port de France, and banana crops were flattened on the French island.

Strong winds beat at the south coast of Puerto Rico as Beulah pounded on toward the west-northwest, with winds of 100 miles an hour roaring around her center and gales reaching out 125 miles in all directions.

Residents of Haiti and the Dominican Republic, which occupy the island of Hispaniola, were placed on a hurricane watch. Along the vulnerable south coast of this island, many hurricanes of the past have piled up heavy death tolls.

ute," Alfred L. Fitch of Salem, appellants' counsel, said during argument. He said it is unreasonable because it requires the filing of notice of intent to appeal before the appellant knows what action the board will take.

Fitch said the "formal objections" he filed on behalf of the appellants with the county commissioners "contained within the text sufficient notice of intent to appeal." "Certainly the commissioners had no doubt an appeal would be filed if they decided to proceed," he added.

Fitch attempted to give the court the background of the dispute, only to be thwarted by objections of Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis, who said the information is not pertinent to the motion before the court.

At one point, Fitch told the court he believes his motion to amend the "formal objections" by adding "and notice of appeal" to the title "should be allowed in the interest of justice."

The two - hour reading ran into the lunch hour. Judge Tobin told the parties, "This court is not concerned with the wisdom or lack of wisdom of this improvement or whether the residents approve or disapprove. The question to be determined by this court is whether or not the statutory regulations were followed by the commissioners and appellants. The court reserves its decision."

Judge Tobin allowed each side two weeks to file briefs, setting a Sept. 22 deadline for the commissioners and Oct. 6 for the appellants. The ruling will bear only on the commissioners' motion, not on the St. Clair Group's appeal.

Near the end of the hearing, Fitch mentioned a recent poll of property owners in the proposed water district. Bettis' objection was sustained by the court.

Fitch was referring to results of a poll filed Thursday with the county commissioners. Property owners voted 32 for and 337 against the proposed project.

The ballot sheets carried a comparison of water rates for the city of East Liverpool — from which the St. Clair system would buy its water—and the proposed rates for St. Clair, then added:

"If you are a property owner subject to assessment for this proposed project, your opinion is important. Please vote exactly as you feel in the proper space below, indicating whether you are for or against the present proposal."

Water rates per 1,000 gallons as shown on the ballot follow, with East Liverpool first and St. Clair in parentheses:

First 5,000 gallons, 60 cents, (first 3,000, $1.48); next 15,000, 50 cents, (next 3,000, $1.44); next 20,000, 40 cents, (next 10,000, $1.40); next 60,000, 30 cents, (next 24,000, $1.36); over 10,000, 24 cents, (over 40,000, $1.20).

The ballot projected these rates to show that the water bills would be "within the range used by most families quarterly:"

10,000 gallons, East Liverpool, $5.50, St. Clair, $14.36; 20,000 gallons, East Liverpool, $10.50, St. Clair, $28.40; 30,000 gallons, East Liverpool, $14.50, St. Clair, $41.80.

Pleads Innocent

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—In a brief court appearance, Black Power leader H. Rap Brown pleaded innocent today to federal charges of transporting a firearm across state lines while under indictment.

Romney

members of the Republican National Committee commented publicly, that this was a body blow that Romney's aspirations might not survive.

Rockefeller publicly discounted the impact of the editorial. He said in a statement: "I have supported Gov. Romney in the past and I will continue to support Gov. Romney in the future. I repeat, under no circumstances will I be a candidate."

Almost no member of the Republican National Committee, winding up a two-day campaign planning session here today, felt Rockefeller would not make himself available if circumstances seemed to dictate this would be the most available way to get a moderate Republican nominee.

Edward G. Janeway, Vermont national committeeman, told a reporter: "All of the East is talking about Rockefeller as the candidate." He said there is a great deal of discussion of a ticket made up of Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

The Detroit News editorial was being classed with the Scripps- Howard editorial in 1952 which said after the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower that he was "running like a dry creek."

This forced the Morningside conference in New York City at which Eisenhower agreed to Sen. Robert A. Taft's statement of principles which brought dissident conservatives back into the party.

The News editorial was cast as a call to moderate Republicans to get behind Rockefeller as their candidate most likely to win the nomination.

The Detroit newspaper said it was moved to speak out by Romney's charges that he had been "brainwashed" by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, a Republican, and the U.S. military leaders when he visited Vietnam in 1965 with a delegation of governors.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara replied Thursday that Romney would not recognize the truth when he saw it. Republican, as well as Democratic governors on the trip denied they had been sold a bill of goods.

The News supported Romney in three successful campaigns for governor but backed President Johnson in 1964 over Sen. Barry Goldwater. When Romney was spoken of as a dark-horse presidential candidate in 1964, the News urged him to forswear any presidential ambitions, saying he had a lot of work to do as governor. Detroit's other daily, the Free Press, said in an editorial today that Romney had "used a poor choice of words" in the brainwashing statement, but it urged him to "exploit the credibility issue."

The paper, which has opposed U.S. policy in Vietnam, said "much of what the Johnson administration told Gov. Romney about Vietnam must have been hogwash, because much of what it has told the American people has been hogwash."

Goldwater said in Boise, Idaho, that Romney's chances were hurt by his "change in attitude on Vietnam. And Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said in Albany, N.Y. that "'in these days of world crisis we need someone not susceptible to brainwashing."

Girl Scout Aides To Hold Session

recourse had not been exhausted.

The bulk of the city's 560 police and firemen were off the job today, backing up their demand for $25-a-week pay raises.

The walkout started Wednesday night, with all but a handful of firemen and more than half the city's policemen off the job.

All but one of the city's 15 fire stations have been closed down, about a dozen firemen were on duty Friday night in the No. 1 station downtown.

The fire department normally has 260 men, with about 65 on duty at a time.

The police department has 300 men on its rolls, and 90 normally are on duty on each shift. About one-third the normal complement was reported on duty Friday night.

Because no policemen were available to keep order, a high school football preview in which six schools were to participate, was canceled.

Romney

members of the Republican National Committee commented publicly, that this was a body blow that Romney's aspirations might not survive.

Rockefeller publicly discounted the impact of the editorial. He said in a statement: "I have supported Gov. Romney in the past and I will continue to support Gov. Romney in the future. I repeat, under no circumstances will I be a candidate."

Almost no member of the Republican National Committee, winding up a two-day campaign planning session here today, felt Rockefeller would not make himself available if circumstances seemed to dictate this would be the most available way to get a moderate Republican nominee.

Edward G. Janeway, Vermont national committeeman, told a reporter: "All of the East is talking about Rockefeller as the candidate." He said there is a great deal of discussion of a ticket made up of Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

The Detroit News editorial was being classed with the Scripps- Howard editorial in 1952 which said after the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower that he was "running like a dry creek."

This forced the Morningside conference in New York City at which Eisenhower agreed to Sen. Robert A. Taft's statement of principles which brought dissident conservatives back into the party.

The News editorial was cast as a call to moderate Republicans to get behind Rockefeller as their candidate most likely to win the nomination.

The Detroit newspaper said it was moved to speak out by Romney's charges that he had been "brainwashed" by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, a Republican, and the U.S. military leaders when he visited Vietnam in 1965 with a delegation of governors.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara replied Thursday that Romney would not recognize the truth when he saw it. Republican, as well as Democratic governors on the trip denied they had been sold a bill of goods.

The News supported Romney in three successful campaigns for governor but backed President Johnson in 1964 over Sen. Barry Goldwater. When Romney was spoken of as a dark-horse presidential candidate in 1964, the News urged him to forswear any presidential ambitions, saying he had a lot of work to do as governor. Detroit's other daily, the Free Press, said in an editorial today that Romney had "used a poor choice of words" in the brainwashing statement, but it urged him to "exploit the credibility issue."

The paper, which has opposed U.S. policy in Vietnam, said "much of what the Johnson administration told Gov. Romney about Vietnam must have been hogwash, because much of what it has told the American people has been hogwash."

Goldwater said in Boise, Idaho, that Romney's chances were hurt by his "change in attitude on Vietnam. And Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said in Albany, N.Y. that "'in these days of world crisis we need someone not susceptible to brainwashing."

recourse had not been exhausted.

The bulk of the city's 560 police and firemen were off the job today, backing up their demand for $25-a-week pay raises.

The walkout started Wednesday night, with all but a handful of firemen and more than half the city's policemen off the job.

All but one of the city's 15 fire stations have been closed down, about a dozen firemen were on duty Friday night in the No. 1 station downtown.

The fire department normally has 260 men, with about 65 on duty at a time.

The police department has 300 men on its rolls, and 90 normally are on duty on each shift. About one-third the normal complement was reported on duty Friday night.

Because no policemen were available to keep order, a high school football preview in which six schools were to participate, was canceled.

Barrier Cleared For Big Merger

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The last barrier has been cleared for a merger of the Rockwell-Standard Corp. and North American Aviation, one of the largest in American business history.

Rockwell - Standard announced Friday in Oklahoma City the sale of its Jet Commander interests to the Israeli government for about $25 million.

That takes them out of the jet plane business and overcomes a Justice Department objection to the merger, which would create one of the nation's top 20 companies.

Stockholders approved the merger June 27, but the Justice Department voiced oppostion because both companies make executive aircraft. A combination of the two might tend to create a monopoly, the department said.

WEIRTON — About $927 in cash, company records and a camera were taken from the Baron Chevrolet Co. here Friday.

Barrier Cleared For Big Merger

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The last barrier has been cleared for a merger of the Rockwell-Standard Corp. and North American Aviation, one of the largest in American business history.

Rockwell - Standard announced Friday in Oklahoma City the sale of its Jet Commander interests to the Israeli government for about $25 million.

That takes them out of the jet plane business and overcomes a Justice Department objection to the merger, which would create one of the nation's top 20 companies.

Stockholders approved the merger June 27, but the Justice Department voiced opposition because both companies make executive aircraft. A combination of the two might tend to create a monopoly, the department said.

McNamara And His Wall

The 20th century version of a military fallacy conceived hundreds of years ago is about to become a reality.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has ordered a barrier of barbed wire, electronic warning devices and mines to be constructed in South Vietnam.

The exact nature of the barrier has been labeled classified by the defense secretary. He did not say how long it is to be but reported it will parallel the southern boundary of the demilitarized zone.

The barrier already is being called "sophisticated" because of the type weapons that will defend it. That gives it the 20th century flavor, but the idea is centuries old.

Military minds always have felt secure behind a wall—and they always have been disappointed when the strategy failed.

The walls never lived up to expectations.

Before inhabitants of the world learned how to build much of anything else, they learned to build walls around their villages. Plundering hordes battered them down.

Crusader castles were protected by walls and moats. The moats were bridged; attack towers provided access over the walls and tunnels provided access beneath them.

Roman Emperor Hadrian's 74-mile wall was destroyed by tribes from the north three times before it was abandoned.

The 1,500-mile-long Great Wall of China was the most extensive fortification project in history, but it didn't keep out invaders.

The degree of success gained by wall defense depends upon the determination of defenders to use their most potent weapon against the attackers.

The first wall assaulters ran head-on into stones dropped from above. Later it was discovered boiling olive oil was an effective deterrent.

Eventually defenders eventually ran out of stones or oil and were defeated, but they gave it all they had during the battle.

We doubt it.

Then how can the barrier venture possibly be successful when it has not proved satisfactory in the past and Mr. McNamara has documented distaste for exercising military firmness.

This looks like another costly military misadventure that American taxpayers will pay for.

New Nuclear Safety

Ice cubes will be used to "cool any nuclear "hot" areas of atomic reactors of commercial power plants under a new protection method announced by Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Westinghouse which helped construct the Shippingport Atomic Power Plant of the Duquesne Light Co., says the new safety system will permit cheaper and more esthetic atomic plants which can be used in urban centers.

Previously, the apprehension of a possible rupture of a reactor core — something which has never happened with a commercial nuclear facility — kept location of power plants on the outskirts of cities.

Now, the plants can be built "downtown" with safety, and can be constructed much more cheaply because the size of the dome around the reactor can be reduced by as much as 50 per cent.

By using millions of ice cubes instead of water in the dome, a burst of radioactive steam would be quickly cooled and pressure reduced.

So the development of nuclear power for commercial use, launched at Shippingport 10 years ago, continues apace with new efficiency, new safety and new promise for the future.

Sen. Morton's Proposal

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, the Kentucky Republican who speaks with more authority inside his party than any other border-state legislator, has joined Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin (retired) in a point of view about Vietnam.

The general's point of view was a mild sensation early in 1966 when he described it to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said the United States had been "mesmerized" by its undeclared war in Vietnam and was letting the enemy determine the extent of its escalation.

He believed this country should quit sacrificing manpower and materiel in rice paddies, jungles and elephant grass and defend itself in enclaves where it could fight at an advantage, instead of a disadvantage.

The significance of his testimony in 1966 was that he believed U.S. military power should be exerted in Vietnam, but in a more efficient and less costly way.

He was not proposing withdrawl. He believed in standing firm. He just did not believe in attempting the impossible — in squandering lives in a futile effort to track down and kill guerrilla fighters.

Sen. Morton now subscribes to the same idea.

He wants to make the enemy come to the strong positions of the United States, instead of sending U.S. fighting men to the strong positions of the enemy. He thinks this would reduce by half the number of troops needed in Vietnam.

It also would minimize the number of lives sacrificed to a cause that never has been clearly defined and never clearly understood.

Sen. Morton now stands publicly at odds with what is coming to be thought of in Washington as the Edsel Plan for carrying on the war in Vietnam — otherwise known as McNamara's Folly. Believing doesn't make anything so; it never did.

France Renews End-War Line

The persistent efforts by France to get the United States out of Vietnam have taken a new tack with President Charles de Gaulle's visit to Poland.

The French leader sees the possibility of a France-Poland coalition to bring about an end to bombing and the withdrawal of U.S. troops.

This isn't the first time France has attempted to band with Communists to force U.S. withdrawal.

French Premier Georges Pompidou met with Soviet Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin and other Communist leaders in July. A joint communique issued at the end of the meeting called for an end to U.S. intervention in Vietnam.

President de Gaulle has made no secret of his dislike for the United States and its influence in Europe. Neither has he tried to hide his strategy of winning the favor of red countries.

He doesn't talk about a cease-fire or negotiations, only about an end to the bombing and a pull-out of U.S. troops.

In view of his desire to make the United States look bad in an area where France had its ears pinned back, we wonder about the motive behind President de Gaulle's Vietnam policy.

Is he thinking about the Vietnamese people, or is he primarily concerned with discrediting the United States?

Letter From Max

DEAR TRUMAN TWILL:

Recent events involving China's Mao Tse-tung and the late American Nazi George Lincoln Rockwell remind me of a young woman I knew years ago who was learning to drive a car.

"How is it going with the car?" somebody asked her.

"Oh, just fine," she said.

"That stop sign on Main St. at the circle drive around the little park in the center of town always gives me trouble," said the older driver. "I almost miss seeing that stop sign every time."

"I know the one you mean," said the learnisg woman driver. "I never worry about it at all. That stop sign is for the other drivers. I never pay any attention to it."

That is about the same attitude shown by Mao and the late Nazi Rockwell.

Embassies in Peking are practically uninsureable. The Red Chinese smash windows and heads at the drop of a rock.

The Red Chinese have tailored an excuse for their actions. They say countries like the U.S. are imperialist and countries like Communist Russia are revisionist. Therefore they are fair game for insults from Red China which along with only a few other countries are the only real revolutionists left in the world.

Bourgeois countries like the United States and Russia, say the Chinese, are so far beyond the pale they have no right to try to judge or criticize a truly revolutionary country like Red China.

"Bourgeois countries like the United States and Russia" — that's a hot one.

Mao evidently glories in having the enemies he does and uses them as best he can to make hay in China. Often you can judge a man by his enemies better than you can by his friends.

And, of course you know what happened to Nazi Rockwell. A picture of his bullet-shattered body lying on the street was in the paper.

Mao and Rockwell claimed everybody but they were out of step.

As for the young woman who was learning to drive, she evidently found out before it was too late that stop signs were for real.

Nobody ever heard of her getting a traffic ticket and she matured into an upright law-abiding citizen.

Incidentally Twill, how are you coming along with your one-man campaign against sprigs of parsley on lamb chops in restaurants?

Faithfully yours,
MAX

VICTOR RIESEL

The Time For New Paths

OSLO — Hustling through Scandinavia, one strides through the lands of Socialist make-believe. There are kings and weary "radicals." Both are entrapped by tradition. The kings can escape. The Socialists can't. The kings will survive. The Socialists won't.

Victor Riesel

Here, King Olav V eschews his palace, ignores his royal cattle and horse farm right in the city's center, and lives over on the posh West Side. But the Socialists can't rid themselves of their old rebel trappings and slogans. They're stuck with the revolutionary jargon of their youth. Wherever they're in power they attempt to fulfill youthful dreams in their middle and old ages and they run into bankruptcy. Then, as has happened, they are driven from office.

Theirs is no longer the wave of the future all over Europe. Theirs is the undertow of the past.

Scathingly in Socialist jargon, Mr. Gunter told the Scottish Council of Labor:

"I do wish so many of the comrades would stop equating profits with incest or lechery. If you have a profitable industry, you have the means for further investment and further development and more jobs.

"If you have an unprofitable industry you do not expand and you do not get more jobs."

GUNTER, WHO HAD SEEN Prime Minister Harold Wilson only a few days earlier, spoke out deliberately in public where other leaders of the Socialist world fear to threaten. In the recent past, I have conversed confidentially with Socialist Party leaders, prime ministers, foreign ministers, labor ministers and trade ministers of many a Social Democratic (Labor) government. Privately they say what Mr. Gunter has said publicly. And for two reasons:

They no longer have faith in today's Socialist make-believe.

They are losing votes among the young and the new white collar cadres — and are falling out of governments as their old faithfuls, the manual workers, dwindle and fade away.

Look at Norway — a nation mighty loyal to America despite the long, common Norwegian Soviet border. For over 30 years the Socialists' labor government held power almost continually.

It operated the typical Scandinavian (middle way) welfare state with one exception.

Instead of nationalizing some key industries, it went into competition with some private industries. It built a big steel complex up north —the Statens Jernverk (National Steel Works). It built a coking plant. It produced aluminum.

The steel and coke installations lost heavily and still do. It made some money on aluminum because, in today's market, it would have had to dump the metal into the Oslo Fjord to lose money.

It created a maze of confiscatory taxes (as has the United Kingdom, which now has 500,000 persons working on levies alone in that tight little island.

Just about two years ago the Norwegians, some by rowboat, some by fishing craft, some on skis, and some by wagon, as well as simply queuing up in the big cities, gave the other four major parties an unprecedented majority over the Labor (Socialist) Party.

THE "CONSERVATIVE" GOVERNMENT is still in office. It has the support of the new voters, the middle class, and even some old socialists, too, who are weary of ancient slogans.

Slowly the anti-Socialist coalition, with whose leaders I have just spent considerable time, are undoing what it can. Their first efforts have gone to unraveling the huge welfare state tax burden.

This does not mean that anyone anywhere wants anyone anywhere to go ill-housed, ill-fed, ill-clothed. It simply means that many an old radical believes the time has come for a fundamental review of the welfare state — and is willing to vote for a government which will do it.

To believe that this is reactionary is analogous to believing that King Olav or Queen Elizabeth lead breast-plated legions of crossbow archers.

The old middle way has gone astray. It appears to the "new masses" that the time has come for new paths.

This 'N That

The hardest of all metals is vanadium. It is also one of the rarest and most expensive. It is used in combination with other metals in alloys. In steel alloys, for instance, seldom more than 0.2 per cent of vanadium is used and then usually with chrmium. Chrome-vanadium steel has high strength and good ductility, and is used for ball bearings, leaf springs, transmission gears, rear axle gears and steering-gear parts in automobiles.

Rat Control

A most significant example of how easily public opinion in America is misinformed—if not misled—is the impression prevalent today because the federal government is unwilling to spend $40 million to control rats.

On the surface, it might seem that Congress is indifferent about the hazards to people from rat bites and the damage to property that can come from what appears to be a "population explosion" of rats.

When Congress refused to grant the request by President Johnson that $40 million be spent over a two-year period for rat control, the idea somehow spread that the problems of the cities are being neglected, even though the great proportion of the estimated 90 million rats of the country are in rural areas.

Are the towns, cities and counties going to sit back and expect the federal government to do their jobs for them?

Rats are not a new phenomenon. Methods of controlling them have been available for many decades.

The fact is that some major cities, like Detroit and Milwaukee, have rat-control programs and have substantially reduced the incidence of rat bites. Disease developing from rat bites has been virtually eliminated in many cities.

It was the feeling of Congress that local communities with a rat problem should be responsible for handling it. If Congress were to be required to take care of the prevention of rat bites, there are plenty of other bites—from cats, dogs, pigs and horses--which could give the federal government an interminable responsibility.

Experience has shown that the most efficient means of fighting rats is starvation and poison.

The first step—already a part of the sanitation code of most cities and towns—is that all garbage and discarded food shall be stored or disposed of only in metal containers with tight-fitting covers. Once food is made unavailable, hungry rats will eat certain poisons which are harmless to humans and other animals but effective against rats.

There is one function in all this for the federal government. It is to make studies and provide guidance. Three federal programs dealing with the rat problem already are in existence.

The Department of the Interior studies rat-control methods and gives information on the subject in a project costing $27,000 a year.

Public Health Service spends $299,000 annually on research into rats, and General Services Administration uses $200,000 a year to get rid of rats in federal buildings.

It is estimaed that it costs about $600,000 per hundred thousand of human population to exterminate rats or $6 per person.

Thus, a federal program of only $20 million a year would have little effect on 90 million rats. If, however, every city fulfilled its job of rat control, the cost would be spread throughout the municipalities of the country.

Experts say that if cities enforced ordinances requiring the proper handling of garbage, then carried on a program of poisoning, the rat problem would disappear.

The furor over rats is an illustration of how easily cities can forsake their own responsibilities and begin to rely on the federal government for everything.

The finger of blame on rat control needs to be pointed not at Congress but at those cities which have neglected to institute programs known to be effective in getting rid of rats.

If the federal government is called upon to deal with every problem of the states, cities and counties, the national debt will grow substantially every year, and the economic condition of the country will be adversely affected.

There is a better chance to handle welfare programs and their expense at the local level than in Washington. But local governments apparently are beginning to feel that if the federal government is to be in the business of taking care of the public welfare on almost everything, it might as well drive out the rats, too.

Congress, for once, has shown courage in refusing to spend federal funds on a problem which states and cities can handle on their own.

McNamara And His Wall

The 20th century version of a military fallacy conceived hundreds of years ago is about to become a reality.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has ordered a barrier of barbed wire, electronic warning devices and mines to be constructed in South Vietnam.

The exact nature of the barrier has been labeled classified by the defense secretary. He did not say how long it is to be but reported it will parallel the southern boundary of the demilitarized zone.

The barrier already is being called "sophisticated" because of the type weapons that will defend it. That gives it the 20th century flavor, but the idea is centuries old.

Military minds always have felt secure behind a wall—and they always have been disappointed when the strategy failed.

The walls never lived up to expectations.

Before inhabitants of the world learned how to build much of anything else, they learned to build walls around their villages. Plundering hordes battered them down.

Crusader castles were protected by walls and moats. The moats were bridged; attack towers provided access over the walls and tunnels provided access beneath them.

Roman Emperor Hadrian's 74-mile wall was destroyed by tribes from the north three times before it was abandoned.

The 1,500-mile-long Great Wall of China was the most extensive fortification project in history, but it didn't keep out invaders.

The degree of success gained by wall defense depends upon the determination of defenders to use their most potent weapon against the attackers.

The first wall assaulters ran head-on into stones dropped from above. Later it was discovered boiling olive oil was an effective deterrent.

Eventually defenders eventually ran out of stones or oil and were defeated, but they gave it all they had during the battle.

Is Secretary of Defense McNamara willing to defend the barrier with his most potent weapons?

We doubt it.

Then how can the barrier venture possibly be successful when it has not proved satisfactory in the past and Mr. McNamara has documented distaste for exercising military firmness.

This looks like another costly military misadventure that American taxpayers will pay for.

New Nuclear Safety

Ice cubes will be used to "cool any nuclear "hot" areas of atomic reactors of commercial power plants under a new protection method announced by Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Westinghouse which helped construct the Shippingport Atomic Power Plant of the Duquesne Light Co., says the new safety system will permit cheaper and more esthetic atomic plants which can be used in urban centers.

Previously, the apprehension of a possible rupture of a reactor core — something which has never happened with a commercial nuclear facility — kept location of power plants on the outskirts of cities.

Now, the plants can be built "downtown" with safety, and can be constructed much more cheaply because the size of the dome around the reactor can be reduced by as much as 50 per cent.

By using millions of ice cubes instead of water in the dome, a burst of radioactive steam would be quickly cooled and pressure reduced.

So the development of nuclear power for commercial use, launched at Shippingport 10 years ago, continues apace with new efficiency, new safety and new promise for the future.

Sen. Morton's Proposal

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, the Kentucky Republican who speaks with more authority inside his party than any other border-state legislator, has joined Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin (retired) in a point of view about Vietnam.

The general's point of view was a mild sensation early in 1966 when he described it to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said the United States had been "mesmerized" by its undeclared war in Vietnam and was letting the enemy determine the extent of its escalation.

He believed this country should quit sacrificing manpower and materiel in rice paddies, jungles and elephant grass and defend itself in enclaves where it could fight at an advantage, instead of a disadvantage.

The significance of his testimony in 1966 was that he believed U.S. military power should be exerted in Vietnam, but in a more efficient and less costly way.

He was not proposing withdrawl. He believed in standing firm. He just did not believe in attempting the impossible — in squandering lives in a futile effort to track down and kill guerrilla fighters.

Sen. Morton now subscribes to the same idea.

He wants to make the enemy come to the strong positions of the United States, instead of sending U.S. fighting men to the strong positions of the enemy. He thinks this would reduce by half the number of troops needed in Vietnam.

It also would minimize the number of lives sacrificed to a cause that never has been clearly defined and never clearly understood.

Sen. Morton now stands publicly at odds with what is coming to be thought of in Washington as the Edsel Plan for carrying on the war in Vietnam — otherwise known as McNamara's Folly. Believing doesn't make anything so; it never did.

France Renews End-War Line

The persistent efforts by France to get the United States out of Vietnam have taken a new tack with President Charles de Gaulle's visit to Poland.

The French leader sees the possibility of a France-Poland coalition to bring about an end to bombing and the withdrawal of U.S. troops.

This isn't the first time France has attempted to band with Communists to force U.S. withdrawal.

French Premier Georges Pompidou met with Soviet Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin and other Communist leaders in July. A joint communique issued at the end of the meeting called for an end to U.S. intervention in Vietnam.

President de Gaulle has made no secret of his dislike for the United States and its influence in Europe. Neither has he tried to hide his strategy of winning the favor of red countries.

He doesn't talk about a cease-fire or negotiations, only about an end to the bombing and a pull-out of U.S. troops.

In view of his desire to make the United States look bad in an area where France had its ears pinned back, we wonder about the motive behind President de Gaulle's Vietnam policy.

Is he thinking about the Vietnamese people, or is he primarily concerned with discrediting the United States?

Letter From Max

DEAR TRUMAN TWILL:

Recent events involving China's Mao Tse-tung and the late American Nazi George Lincoln Rockwell remind me of a young woman I knew years ago who was learning to drive a car.

"How is it going with the car?" somebody asked her.

"Oh, just fine," she said.

"That stop sign on Main St. at the circle drive around the little park in the center of town always gives me trouble," said the older driver. "I almost miss seeing that stop sign every time."

"I know the one you mean," said the learnisg woman driver. "I never worry about it at all. That stop sign is for the other drivers. I never pay any attention to it."

That is about the same attitude shown by Mao and the late Nazi Rockwell.

Embassies in Peking are practically uninsureable. The Red Chinese smash windows and heads at the drop of a rock.

The Red Chinese have tailored an excuse for their actions. They say countries like the U.S. are imperialist and countries like Communist Russia are revisionist. Therefore they are fair game for insults from Red China which along with only a few other countries are the only real revolutionists left in the world.

Bourgeois countries like the United States and Russia, say the Chinese, are so far beyond the pale they have no right to try to judge or criticize a truly revolutionary country like Red China.

"Bourgeois countries like the United States and Russia" — that's a hot one.

Mao evidently glories in having the enemies he does and uses them as best he can to make hay in China. Often you can judge a man by his enemies better than you can by his friends.

And, of course you know what happened to Nazi Rockwell. A picture of his bullet-shattered body lying on the street was in the paper.

Mao and Rockwell claimed everybody but they were out of step.

As for the young woman who was learning to drive, she evidently found out before it was too late that stop signs were for real.

Nobody ever heard of her getting a traffic ticket and she matured into an upright law-abiding citizen.

Incidentally Twill, how are you coming along with your one-man campaign against sprigs of parsley on lamb chops in restaurants?

Faithfully yours,
MAX

The Time For New Paths

OSLO — Hustling through Scandinavia, one strides through the lands of Socialist make-believe. There are kings and weary "radicals." Both are entrapped by tradition. The kings can escape. The Socialists can't. The kings will survive. The Socialists won't.

Victor Riesel

Here, King Olav V eschews his palace, ignores his royal cattle and horse farm right in the city's center, and lives over on the posh West Side. But the Socialists can't rid themselves of their old rebel trappings and slogans. They're stuck with the revolutionary jargon of their youth. Wherever they're in power they attempt to fulfill youthful dreams in their middle and old ages and they run into bankruptcy. Then, as has happened, they are driven from office.

Theirs is no longer the wave of the future all over Europe. Theirs is the undertow of the past.

Scathingly in Socialist jargon, Mr. Gunter told the Scottish Council of Labor:

"I do wish so many of the comrades would stop equating profits with incest or lechery. If you have a profitable industry, you have the means for further investment and further development and more jobs.

"If you have an unprofitable industry you do not expand and you do not get more jobs."

GUNTER, WHO HAD SEEN Prime Minister Harold Wilson only a few days earlier, spoke out deliberately in public where other leaders of the Socialist world fear to threaten. In the recent past, I have conversed confidentially with Socialist Party leaders, prime ministers, foreign ministers, labor ministers and trade ministers of many a Social Democratic (Labor) government. Privately they say what Mr. Gunter has said publicly. And for two reasons:

They no longer have faith in today's Socialist make-believe.

They are losing votes among the young and the new white collar cadres — and are falling out of governments as their old faithfuls, the manual workers, dwindle and fade away.

Look at Norway — a nation mighty loyal to America despite the long, common Norwegian Soviet border. For over 30 years the Socialists' labor government held power almost continually.

It operated the typical Scandinavian (middle way) welfare state with one exception.

Instead of nationalizing some key industries, it went into competition with some private industries. It built a big steel complex up north —the Statens Jernverk (National Steel Works). It built a coking plant. It produced aluminum.

The steel and coke installations lost heavily and still do. It made some money on aluminum because, in today's market, it would have had to dump the metal into the Oslo Fjord to lose money.

It created a maze of confiscatory taxes (as has the United Kingdom, which now has 500,000 persons working on levies alone in that tight little island.

Just about two years ago the Norwegians, some by rowboat, some by fishing craft, some on skis, and some by wagon, as well as simply queuing up in the big cities, gave the other four major parties an unprecedented majority over the Labor (Socialist) Party.

THE "CONSERVATIVE" GOVERNMENT is still in office. It has the support of the new voters, the middle class, and even some old socialists, too, who are weary of ancient slogans.

Slowly the anti-Socialist coalition, with whose leaders I have just spent considerable time, are undoing what it can. Their first efforts have gone to unraveling the huge welfare state tax burden.

This does not mean that anyone anywhere wants anyone anywhere to go ill-housed, ill-fed, ill-clothed. It simply means that many an old radical believes the time has come for a fundamental review of the welfare state — and is willing to vote for a government which will do it.

To believe that this is reactionary is analogous to believing that King Olav or Queen Elizabeth lead breast-plated legions of crossbow archers.

The old middle way has gone astray. It appears to the "new masses" that the time has come for new paths.

The hardest of all metals is vanadium. It is also one of the rarest and most expensive. It is used in combination with other metals in alloys. In steel alloys, for instance, seldom more than 0.2 per cent of vanadium is used and then usually with chrmium. Chrome-vanadium steel has high strength and good ductility, and is used for ball bearings, leaf springs, transmission gears, rear axle gears and steering-gear parts in automobiles.

Rat Control

A most significant example of how easily public opinion in America is misinformed—if not misled—is the impression prevalent today because the federal government is unwilling to spend $40 million to control rats.

On the surface, it might seem that Congress is indifferent about the hazards to people from rat bites and the damage to property that can come from what appears to be a "population explosion" of rats.

When Congress refused to grant the request by President Johnson that $40 million be spent over a two-year period for rat control, the idea somehow spread that the problems of the cities are being neglected, even though the great proportion of the estimated 90 million rats of the country are in rural areas.

Are the towns, cities and counties going to sit back and expect the federal government to do their jobs for them?

Rats are not a new phenomenon. Methods of controlling them have been available for many decades.

The fact is that some major cities, like Detroit and Milwaukee, have rat-control programs and have substantially reduced the incidence of rat bites. Disease developing from rat bites has been virtually eliminated in many cities.

It was the feeling of Congress that local communities with a rat problem should be responsible for handling it. If Congress were to be required to take care of the prevention of rat bites, there are plenty of other bites—from cats, dogs, pigs and horses--which could give the federal government an interminable responsibility.

Experience has shown that the most efficient means of fighting rats is starvation and poison.

The first step—already a part of the sanitation code of most cities and towns—is that all garbage and discarded food shall be stored or disposed of only in metal containers with tight-fitting covers. Once food is made unavailable, hungry rats will eat certain poisons which are harmless to humans and other animals but effective against rats.

There is one function in all this for the federal government. It is to make studies and provide guidance. Three federal programs dealing with the rat problem already are in existence.

The Department of the Interior studies rat-control methods and gives information on the subject in a project costing $27,000 a year.

Public Health Service spends $299,000 annually on research into rats, and General Services Administration uses $200,000 a year to get rid of rats in federal buildings.

It is estimaed that it costs about $600,000 per hundred thousand of human population to exterminate rats or $6 per person.

Thus, a federal program of only $20 million a year would have little effect on 90 million rats. If, however, every city fulfilled its job of rat control, the cost would be spread throughout the municipalities of the country.

Experts say that if cities enforced ordinances requiring the proper handling of garbage, then carried on a program of poisoning, the rat problem would disappear.

The furor over rats is an illustration of how easily cities can forsake their own responsibilities and begin to rely on the federal government for everything.

The finger of blame on rat control needs to be pointed not at Congress but at those cities which have neglected to institute programs known to be effective in getting rid of rats.

If the federal government is called upon to deal with every problem of the states, cities and counties, the national debt will grow substantially every year, and the economic condition of the country will be adversely affected.

There is a better chance to handle welfare programs and their expense at the local level than in Washington. But local governments apparently are beginning to feel that if the federal government is to be in the business of taking care of the public welfare on almost everything, it might as well drive out the rats, too.

Congress, for once, has shown courage in refusing to spend federal funds on a problem which states and cities can handle on their own.

Community College Offers Braille Transcribing Class

The Community College of Beaver County, in cooperation with the Beaver County Branch of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, will present a braille transcribing course to persons who will volunteer their services to learn to transcribe printed material into braille for the blind.

This needed service, which cannot be secured in any other way, will assist the blind people of Beaver County to have access to certain types of reading material.

Beaver County has blind students in the public schools and in the local colleges who need printed books, papers, pamphlets, and examinations transcribed into braille for them by volunteers. Blind students have a constant need for the services of qualified brailists. A group of blind housewives constantly use the braille service for copies of recipes and current directions for the latest instant foods.

The Community College is initiating courses in braille which will prepare transcribers for this very special project. Instructors will be provided by the Beaver County Branch of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind so that people who enroll for the course will have the benefit of skilled and certified instructors.

There will be no tuition charge.

The Association for the Blind has a braille duplicating machine which can be used to make copies of original braille sheets. At the present time however, braillists are urgently needed to make the initial copies.

The course will consist of 19 classes with textbooks and braille manuals from the Library of Congress as the basic instructional texts. The final class will include instruction in the preparation of trial manuscript for the Library of Congress Certification. Additional certificates will be awarded by the Community College of Beaver County and the Beaver County Branch of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind upon full completion of the course.

One class will be scheduled on Wednesday afternoon and another on Tuesday evening to accomodate as many people as possible. Classes will begin the week of September 25th.

Interested persons should contact Mrs. Pearl McMichael at the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, telephone number 843-1111, or the Office of Continuing Education, the Community College of Beaver County, 775-8561.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
A PLEA FOR CHRIST'S CHURCH

During the past two weeks we have been noticing with you some of the things that are a part of the plea of the Church of Chirst. We believe this plea to be worthy of your attention. In our article today we should like to continue that study. We have noted that Churches of Chirst plead that people accept the Bible as the complete and inspired will of God. We also plead that Christ be accepted as the Savior of the world.

Today, we would like to note that our plea involves the acceptance of the one church that Jesus built. We have been told so often by religious leaders and preachers that it is right to have many churches, that some have come to think that this is the teaching of the Bible. However, this is not the case! The Bible does not in any passage endorse the existance of more than one church! We are aware that many people think that this teaching is very narrow-minded. However, we are interested in being only as broad-minded as the Scriptures allow. For us to be true to God and to His word, we must believe and accept what He has said.

Jesus only promised to build one church. Mt. 16: 18. ". . . and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." When people repented and were baptized they were added to just one church. Acts 2:47. Paul teaches in Ephisians 1:22, 23 that Christ is the head over just one church. Call this "narrow" if you like, but it still is the teaching of the Bible. God did not ask us to revise and re-write His word. He asks us to believe and accept His word.

It is quite clear that people in general have not allowed themselves to be governed by the teaching of the Bible in this matter. We have in this great country of ours, about three hundred different churches. This is not a matter for laughter. This shows the urgent need for the plea that Churches of Christ are making now. We cannot go on and ignore the will of God in this matter and still expect to be pleasing Him. Friends, division is wrong. It never was intended by God.

In view of what has been said, someone may be wondering what they can do about this situation. Let me suggest to you that you get your Bible out and study it diligently. See if our plea is taught in God's word. If you find that the Bible does not approve of the division that now exists, begin investigating so that you might be able to find the church that Jesus built. You cannot afford to be wrong about this matter. If we can be of any service to you in the study of the Scriptures, please feel free to let us know.

You are cordially invited to investigate the Church of Christ. Attend services tomorrow.

Community College Offers Braille Transcribing Class

The Community College of Beaver County, in cooperation with the Beaver County Branch of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, will present a braille transcribing course to persons who will volunteer their services to learn to transcribe printed material into braille for the blind.

This needed service, which cannot be secured in any other way, will assist the blind people of Beaver County to have access to certain types of reading material.

Beaver County has blind students in the public schools and in the local colleges who need printed books, papers, pamphlets, and examinations transcribed into braille for them by volunteers. Blind students have a constant need for the services of qualified brailists. A group of blind housewives constantly use the braille service for copies of recipes and current directions for the latest instant foods.

The Community College is initiating courses in braille which will prepare transcribers for this very special project. Instructors will be provided by the Beaver County Branch of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind so that people who enroll for the course will have the benefit of skilled and certified instructors.

There will be no tuition charge.

The Association for the Blind has a braille duplicating machine which can be used to make copies of original braille sheets. At the present time however, braillists are urgently needed to make the initial copies.

The course will consist of 19 classes with textbooks and braille manuals from the Library of Congress as the basic instructional texts. The final class will include instruction in the preparation of trial manuscript for the Library of Congress Certification. Additional certificates will be awarded by the Community College of Beaver County and the Beaver County Branch of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind upon full completion of the course.

One class will be scheduled on Wednesday afternoon and another on Tuesday evening to accomodate as many people as possible. Classes will begin the week of September 25th.

Interested persons should contact Mrs. Pearl McMichael at the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, telephone number 843-1111, or the Office of Continuing Education, the Community College of Beaver County, 775-8561.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
A PLEA FOR CHRIST'S CHURCH

During the past two weeks we have been noticing with you some of the things that are a part of the plea of the Church of Chirst. We believe this plea to be worthy of your attention. In our article today we should like to continue that study. We have noted that Churches of Chirst plead that people accept the Bible as the complete and inspired will of God. We also plead that Christ be accepted as the Savior of the world.

Today, we would like to note that our plea involves the acceptance of the one church that Jesus built. We have been told so often by religious leaders and preachers that it is right to have many churches, that some have come to think that this is the teaching of the Bible. However, this is not the case! The Bible does not in any passage endorse the existance of more than one church! We are aware that many people think that this teaching is very narrow-minded. However, we are interested in being only as broad-minded as the Scriptures allow. For us to be true to God and to His word, we must believe and accept what He has said.

Jesus only promised to build one church. Mt. 16: 18. ". . . and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." When people repented and were baptized they were added to just one church. Acts 2:47. Paul teaches in Ephisians 1:22, 23 that Christ is the head over just one church. Call this "narrow" if you like, but it still is the teaching of the Bible. God did not ask us to revise and re-write His word. He asks us to believe and accept His word.

It is quite clear that people in general have not allowed themselves to be governed by the teaching of the Bible in this matter. We have in this great country of ours, about three hundred different churches. This is not a matter for laughter. This shows the urgent need for the plea that Churches of Christ are making now. We cannot go on and ignore the will of God in this matter and still expect to be pleasing Him. Friends, division is wrong. It never was intended by God.

In view of what has been said, someone may be wondering what they can do about this situation. Let me suggest to you that you get your Bible out and study it diligently. See if our plea is taught in God's word. If you find that the Bible does not approve of the division that now exists, begin investigating so that you might be able to find the church that Jesus built. You cannot afford to be wrong about this matter. If we can be of any service to you in the study of the Scriptures, please feel free to let us know.

You are cordially invited to investigate the Church of Christ. Attend services tomorrow.

During Meeting At Weirton

Activities Are Reviewed By Mental Health Society

A review of the past three months' activities highlighted a meeting of the Hancock - Brooke County Mental Health Society at Weirton General Hospital Thursday night.

Mrs. Janet Sullivan, psychiatric social worker for the mental health service, declared, "It was a busy summer."

She said the service operated 47 days, conducting a total of 280 interviews, of which 37 were new cases. The interviews included 112 children and 160 adults. Eight were collateral visits.

—:—

A TOTAL of 202 residents from Hancock and 71 from Brooke County visited the service.

Mrs. Sullivan said there continues to be a waiting list for appointments, but all urgent requests are being met.

An interim group program was initiated to relieve the waiting list.

Parents of six families concerned with behavior problems of their children were seen in group consultation for three weeks. This provided an opportunity, she reported, "to allay youngsters until further individual therapy is possible."

Children's behavior problems continue to bring the largest number of requests for consultation.

Mrs. Sullivan explained no one is denied service because of financial reasons. All individuals are given an opportunity to discuss the service fee charges, she added.

In addition to Mrs. Sullivan, the staff includes Dr. Willard Schwartz, psychiatrist and administrator for the service; Dr. Guy Frisk, psychologist; Bart Pabuk, social worker, and Mrs. Carolyn Switzer, secretary.

—:—

THE SERVICE is one of the few facilities in West Virginia which has a complete mental health team, Mrs. Sullivan stated, and it is now listed in the May 1967 directory of "Psychiatric and Other Mental Health Facilities" published by the West Virginia Department of Mental Health.

She reported that during the summer Dr. Schwartz, Pabuk and she visited Weston State Hospital and Dr. Frisk attended a state meeting of mental health service administrators.

Mrs. E. M. Clubb Jr., a member of the board of directors, reported bylaws governing the service have been approved and three new members appointed to the board.

They are Martin Bogarad, Weirton attorney; Mrs. Jon Meriwether, director of the Brooke County Department of Public Welfare, and Mrs. Bernice B. Gist, director of guidance counselors in the Brooke County schools.

Mrs. Charlotte Logston, Hancock school nurse, Dr. Eli Weller, member of the Hancock school board, and Mrs. Audrey Litman, president of the society and principal at the New Cumberland Junior high school, discussed the extensive use of the service by the schools and the resulting benefits to emotionally - disturbed children.

Dr. Weller announced the Weirton chapter of B'nai B'rith will direct the annual fund drive for 1967 - 68.

The society commended the Weirton Ministerial Association for its plan to present a film, "The Restless Ones," produced by evangelist Billy Graham, at the Millsop Community Center Oct. 12-15.

The Hancock commissioners also were commended for their plans for the care of juveniles and mentally ill patients in the proposed new county jail.

Mrs. Litman announced the appointment of Dr. Weller as legislative chairman.

The next meeting will be Oct. 5 at Weirton General Hospital.

Judge Stops Reagan Slash In 'Medi-Cal'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A superior Court judge has ruled that the Reagan administration's massive cutbacks in the Medi-Cal program for the poor are illegal and ordered them permanently stopped.

Judge Irving Perluss of Sacramento placed a permanent injunction on the $210 million reduction in the aid plan.

It was a severe setback to one of the major economy plans of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan. He had ordered aid halted for non-emergency surgery and dental work, placed restrictions on the amount of drugs that can be charged to Medi-Cal coverage.

Judge Perluss said Reagon's decision violated state law by reducing basic services and by eliminating several services entirely.

The judge said that he recognized the need for the state to make reductions in the program to wipe out a deficit.

But he declared the administration was making the cut in the wrong places.

His decision leaves the state with two possible alternatives. It could rewrite the Medi-Cal regulations to conform to Perluss' view of the law, or it could appeal, possibly getting interim relief from a higher court.

During Meeting At Weirton

Activities Are Reviewed By Mental Health Society

A review of the past three months' activities highlighted a meeting of the Hancock - Brooke County Mental Health Society at Weirton General Hospital Thursday night.

Mrs. Janet Sullivan, psychiatric social worker for the mental health service, declared, "It was a busy summer."

She said the service operated 47 days, conducting a total of 280 interviews, of which 37 were new cases. The interviews included 112 children and 160 adults. Eight were collateral visits.

—:—

A TOTAL of 202 residents from Hancock and 71 from Brooke County visited the service.

Mrs. Sullivan said there continues to be a waiting list for appointments, but all urgent requests are being met.

An interim group program was initiated to relieve the waiting list.

Parents of six families concerned with behavior problems of their children were seen in group consultation for three weeks. This provided an opportunity, she reported, "to allay youngsters until further individual therapy is possible."

Children's behavior problems continue to bring the largest number of requests for consultation.

Mrs. Sullivan explained no one is denied service because of financial reasons. All individuals are given an opportunity to discuss the service fee charges, she added.

In addition to Mrs. Sullivan, the staff includes Dr. Willard Schwartz, psychiatrist and administrator for the service; Dr. Guy Frisk, psychologist; Bart Pabuk, social worker, and Mrs. Carolyn Switzer, secretary.

—:—

THE SERVICE is one of the few facilities in West Virginia which has a complete mental health team, Mrs. Sullivan stated, and it is now listed in the May 1967 directory of "Psychiatric and Other Mental Health Facilities" published by the West Virginia Department of Mental Health.

She reported that during the summer Dr. Schwartz, Pabuk and she visited Weston State Hospital and Dr. Frisk attended a state meeting of mental health service administrators.

Mrs. E. M. Clubb Jr., a member of the board of directors, reported bylaws governing the service have been approved and three new members appointed to the board.

They are Martin Bogarad, Weirton attorney; Mrs. Jon Meriwether, director of the Brooke County Department of Public Welfare, and Mrs. Bernice B. Gist, director of guidance counselors in the Brooke County schools.

Mrs. Charlotte Logston, Hancock school nurse, Dr. Eli Weller, member of the Hancock school board, and Mrs. Audrey Litman, president of the society and principal at the New Cumberland Junior high school, discussed the extensive use of the service by the schools and the resulting benefits to emotionally - disturbed children.

Dr. Weller announced the Weirton chapter of B'nai B'rith will direct the annual fund drive for 1967 - 68.

The society commended the Weirton Ministerial Association for its plan to present a film, "The Restless Ones," produced by evangelist Billy Graham, at the Millsop Community Center Oct. 12-15.

The Hancock commissioners also were commended for their plans for the care of juveniles and mentally ill patients in the proposed new county jail.

Mrs. Litman announced the appointment of Dr. Weller as legislative chairman.

The next meeting will be Oct. 5 at Weirton General Hospital.

Judge Stops Reagan Slash In 'Medi-Cal'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A superior Court judge has ruled that the Reagan administration's massive cutbacks in the Medi-Cal program for the poor are illegal and ordered them permanently stopped.

Judge Irving Perluss of Sacramento placed a permanent injunction on the $210 million reduction in the aid plan.

It was a severe setback to one of the major economy plans of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan. He had ordered aid halted for non-emergency surgery and dental work, placed restrictions on the amount of drugs that can be charged to Medi-Cal coverage.

Judge Perluss said Reagon's decision violated state law by reducing basic services and by eliminating several services entirely.

The judge said that he recognized the need for the state to make reductions in the program to wipe out a deficit.

But he declared the administration was making the cut in the wrong places.

His decision leaves the state with two possible alternatives. It could rewrite the Medi-Cal regulations to conform to Perluss' view of the law, or it could appeal, possibly getting interim relief from a higher court.

'Waiting Wives'

Overseas Servicemen's Spouses Helped On Varied Problems By New Area Group

Area wives of servicemen stationed away from home are finding the time passing faster these days because of a new organization, "The Waiting Wives," formed to help them through their period of separation.

The women, generally young and inexperienced in child-raising and household management, discovered themselves facing long, empty evenings and handicaps never realized before their husbands were stationed away from them.

All of a sudden, it wasn't wise to have the telephone number in the directory for fear of being pestered by crank calls, and there was a certain apprehension upon entering an empty house alone after visiting family or friends.

The club was organized in June by the Area Chapter of the American Red Cross. The idea originated in the Service to Military Families committee of the Red Cross and the group has grown as its purpose became known.

DURING THE monthly meeting, the women discuss the trying and sometimes confusing problems of meeting everyday living head-on. Even the need for repair work around the home is a difficulty because of the absence of a competent husband. It is often neglected by the wives who either don't relish the thought of strangers in the house, or don't want to risk being "taken" in a business transaction.

Mrs. Roland Reed of Midway Ln., chairman, said the organization is open to any area serviceman's wife who is not with her husband. It is a social group that meets the second Tuesday of every month at 7:30 p.m. at the Rec. Cross offices at the Mary Patterson Memorial. There are no dues.

Various programs have been presented at the meetings, including panel discussions on wives problems and speakers from the military branches.

The group held a picnic at the home of Mrs. Reed, and in August attended a demonstration of proper use of makeup by Betty Dunn, a local beauty adviser.

During one of the meetings, Charles Lang, a representative of the Red Cross, explained what programs are open through Red Cross to the men in service. Sgt. Edward Vallor, local recruiter, outlined the military facilities available for the men and their families during family emergencies and other crisis.

"IT IS A DIFFICULT situation, Mrs. Reed said, in which a young wife finds herself when she is confronted with a mounting pile of bills and enough money to pay them, but no set budget to assist her.

"There is a terrific emotional strain involved with trying to be both mother and father to children for a year and sometimes longer."

When the wives realize that not only is the separation going to last for a year, but her husband may be killed, the strain is very difficult to bear indeed.

At these monthly gatherings, the women can talk to others in the same or similar situations. They discuss their children and some of the fun and the tragic occurrences that have happened to them during the past month. It is much easier, Mrs. Reed noted, for the women to talk to someone who can understand what it's like to be lonely and to be unable to do anything about it except read and reread letters from their loved ones.

There is a bond, an unspoken pact, that allows these wives to rid themselves of some of their apprehension and fear to — otherwise strangers without a feeling of guilt or shyness. It is a burden they all share and find it easier to carry on the collective shoulders of the group than alone.

The meetings are rather informal — often open discussions with everyone participating.

THE WOMEN have selected a program committee, Mrs. Barbara Eccleston, Mrs. Claire Sell and Mrs. Karen Williams — to provide interesting and stimulating programs so the wives may be better, more competent wives, mothers and temporary heads of the household.

They have tentatively planned and discussed budgeting programs, handicrafts such as knitting, sewing and home decorating, and various other activities interesting not only to wives, but also to women in general. They are learning to expand their knowledge and personalities through well-planned evenings, Mrs. Reed indicated.

Mrs. Cynthia Sellers and Mrs. Diana Mays are in charge of refreshments following the meetings. The food, of course, provides a more casual air for the end of the evening and usually prolongs the members' leaving. It is generally after the meeting that the women relate the amusing or sometimes heart rending experiences of their husbands.

There is also a "Calling" committee with lists of names and telephone numbers of area women who have husbands in the services. The committee obtains the names from mutual friends and newspaper articles of servicemen.

Members of the committee telephone the prospective members and explain to them what the organization is and does, and issues an invitation to join the club.

The only requirement is that a woman, no matter what the service, rank, location or race of her spouse, have a husband stationed away from home. When the husbands return, the women usually stop attending meetings, Mrs. Reed said, though it isn't necessary.

Members of the calling committee are Mrs. Judy Jennings, Mrs. Sells, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Arless Anders and Mrs. Mays.

Mrs. Reed, whose husband, Army Capt. Roland E. Reed, is stationed at Long Binh post, Vietnam, is very much aware of the problems faced by these wives.

She is married to a career-man in the infantry who has been in the service and stationed at various times all over the globe throughout their married life. They have a daughter, Karen Lynn, 6½, and a son, Jeffery, nearly five.

She was asked to assist the committee and help with the organization by Rev. H. Gene Toot, pastor of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, a member of the Red Cross committee and a close friend of the Reeds and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Hayes. She said she could "hardly refuse to help" the area wives who were going through experiences she herself had once had to cope with.

MOST OF THE members are between the ages of 18 and 25 years old, though older wives are not excluded from the club anymore than they are excluded from the separation from their husbands, she said.

Members of the organization are Mrs. Arless Anders, Mrs. Nancy Ashbee, Mrs. Caroline Carbone and Mrs. Lois Gee of Chester, Mrs. Bernice Byers, Mrs. Kay Gray, Mrs. Linda Putnam, Mrs. Sell, Mrs. Patty Stewart, Mrs. William Williams and Mrs. Patricia Clutter of Wellsville and Mrs. Janice Buckley, Mrs. Linda Householder, Mrs. Diana Mays, Mrs. Joyce Barnett, Mrs. Russell Thompson, Mrs. Robert Salig, Mrs. Sally McShane, Mrs. Ginger Meeks, Mrs. Nancy Kleman, Mrs. Peggy Kittle, Mrs. Judy Jennings, Mrs. Barbara Eccleston, Mrs. Charlotte Sullivan, Mrs. Cathy Drew, Mrs. Lucinda Cathell, Mrs. Mary Beaver and Mrs. Joyce Baker of East Liverpool.

Mrs. Reed said that a nominating committee will be named at a September meeting, followed by the presentation of the officers slate and the election in October.

She said that she hopes the wives of area servicemen would not feel shy about joining the group, and that they would take the opportunity to learn to be more efficient, and less lonely wives through the friendship offered.

One evening a month isn't too much to take away from the children, parents or otherwise empty apartment, and it may be just what is needed by a "waiting wife."

IT IS GOOD TO BE GOOD

DONALD DEVICH

It is not enough that we work; it is also important how we work. The manner in which we do things often means more than what we do. A child may not do the best of work, but its eager tries win and warm the adult heart.

It is not enough to speak to people; how we speak counts, too. "I'm happy to have you stay with me," means much when it is filled with loving sincerity. The accommodations may not be the best, but you are quick to overlook that for the sake of not offending such gracious giving.

On the other hand, if someone says, "You can take it or leave it; it's up to you," and mixes these words with the chill from the North Pole, you are apt to look elsewhere, even though the accommodations may be fine.

It is good that we give gifts, but the spirit in which we give more often than not means more than the gift itself. To give begrudgingly makes the giving and taking very unpleasant. To do things graciously is to be a credit to yourself and others. It is a way that the giver and receiver both find an inner reward.

To be gracious means to be kind and courteous in our manner. It means to be sociable, markedly pleasant and at ease. It implies warmth and approachability, kindliness and courtesy, especially to inferiors. It is a beautiful garment of graciousness.

Christians are encouraged to be gracious in all things. When Paul spoke about making contributions for a relief fund, he referred to it as "this gracious work." He stated that Christian giving should be done graciously, not "grudgingly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver." We should feel uplifted for having given. II Cor. 9:7.

What a changed world this would be if all would be just a little more gracious! Think what a pleasure shopping, bus and subway riding would be! To be waited on courteously and kindly would bring the best out in us. Would not a little graciousness improve employer and employee relationships?

One test showed that where employers were gracious and encouraged their employees, the energy soared sharply. But when they found fault and grumbled about the work, the energy curve plunged downward.

Gracious giving and living cost us nothing, yet they are as essential to life as bread and water. Next time you deal with people, be a little more gracious and you will be the better for it.

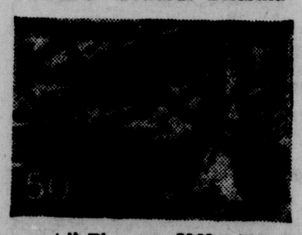
Stamps In The News

A quarter of a century ago the islands of Papua and New Guinea were the scenes of violent military action which raged on the land, sea and air of this part of the globe. As a tribute to the 25th anniversary of the War in the Pacific, Papua and New Guinea have issued four new stamps depicting scenes of battle.

The 2 cents shows a plane attacking ships off Milne Bay. The 5 cents illustrates Allied troops moving towards the enemy on the Kokoda Trail. The 20 cents features "coastwatchers," who hid in the hills and reported the movement of enemy planes and ships. The 50 cents shows the Battle of the Coral Sea.

IT IS IRONICAL, in light of the above issue, that the United Nations should announce it will produce new commemorative stamps on the theme "Towards Disarmament." The new U.N. stamps will be issued in denominations of 6 cents green and blue, and 13 cents green and red. The actual design of the stamp has not as yet been announced. As one observer noted, it would be a good idea if the design featured a man banging his head against the wall.



MEXICO has issued a new 40 centavos stamp commemorating the centenary of the Degollado Theatre in Guadalajara. The theatre has a long and interesting history. Construction was ordered in 1855 by Governor Santos Degollado who named it the "Teatro Alarcon" but soon afterwards the governor died and the name was changed to its present one. It opened in 1866 with Lucia di Lammermoor — but the final construction was not completed until 1888 when it changed its fare to vaudeville. It was nearly destroyed by fire in 1909 and finally inaugurated again in 1941. The opening performance — Lucia di Lammermoor.

When the wives realize that not only is the separation going to last for a year, but her husband may be killed, the strain is very difficult to bear indeed.

At these monthly gatherings, the women can talk to others in the same or similar situations. They discuss their children and some of the fun and the tragic occurrences that have happened to them during the past month. It is much easier, Mrs. Reed noted, for the women to talk to someone who can understand what it's like to be lonely and to be unable to do anything about it except read and reread letters from their loved ones.

There is a bond, an unspoken pact, that allows these wives to rid themselves of some of their apprehension and fear to — otherwise strangers without a feeling of guilt or shyness. It is a burden they all share and find it easier to carry on the collective shoulders of the group than alone.

The meetings are rather informal — often open discussions with everyone participating.

THE WOMEN have selected a program committee, Mrs. Barbara Eccleston, Mrs. Claire Sell and Mrs. Karen Williams — to provide interesting and stimulating programs so the wives may be better, more competent wives, mothers and temporary heads of the household.

They have tentatively planned and discussed budgeting programs, handicrafts such as knitting, sewing and home decorating, and various other activities interesting not only to wives, but also to women in general. They are learning to expand their knowledge and personalities through well-planned evenings, Mrs. Reed indicated.

Mrs. Cynthia Sellers and Mrs. Diana Mays are in charge of refreshments following the meetings. The food, of course, provides a more casual air for the end of the evening and usually prolongs the members' leaving. It is generally after the meeting that the women relate the amusing or sometimes heart rending experiences of their husbands.

There is also a "Calling" committee with lists of names and telephone numbers of area women who have husbands in the services. The committee obtains the names from mutual friends and newspaper articles of servicemen.

Members of the committee telephone the prospective members and explain to them what the organization is and does, and issues an invitation to join the club.

The only requirement is that a woman, no matter what the service, rank, location or race of her spouse, have a husband stationed away from home. When the husbands return, the women usually stop attending meetings, Mrs. Reed said, though it isn't necessary.

Members of the calling committee are Mrs. Judy Jennings, Mrs. Sells, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Arless Anders and Mrs. Mays.

Mrs. Reed, whose husband, Army Capt. Roland E. Reed, is stationed at Long Binh post, Vietnam, is very much aware of the problems faced by these wives.

She is married to a career-man in the infantry who has been in the service and stationed at various times all over the globe throughout their married life. They have a daughter, Karen Lynn, 6½, and a son, Jeffery, nearly five.

She was asked to assist the committee and help with the organization by Rev. H. Gene Toot, pastor of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, a member of the Red Cross committee and a close friend of the Reeds and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Hayes. She said she could "hardly refuse to help" the area wives who were going through experiences she herself had once had to cope with.

MOST OF THE members are between the ages of 18 and 25 years old, though older wives are not excluded from the club anymore than they are excluded from the separation from their husbands, she said.

Members of the organization are Mrs. Arless Anders, Mrs. Nancy Ashbee, Mrs. Caroline Carbone and Mrs. Lois Gee of Chester, Mrs. Bernice Byers, Mrs. Kay Gray, Mrs. Linda Putnam, Mrs. Sell, Mrs. Patty Stewart, Mrs. William Williams and Mrs. Patricia Clutter of Wellsville and Mrs. Janice Buckley, Mrs. Linda Householder, Mrs. Diana Mays, Mrs. Joyce Barnett, Mrs. Russell Thompson, Mrs. Robert Salig, Mrs. Sally McShane, Mrs. Ginger Meeks, Mrs. Nancy Kleman, Mrs. Peggy Kittle, Mrs. Judy Jennings, Mrs. Barbara Eccleston, Mrs Charlotte Sullivan, Mrs. Cathy Drew, Mrs. Lucinda Cathell, Mrs. Mary Beaver and Mrs. Joyce Baker of East Liverpool.

Mrs. Reed said that a nominating committee will be named at a September meeting, followed by the presentation of the officers slate and the election in October.

She said that she hopes the wives of area servicemen would not feel shy about joining the group, and that they would take the opportunity to learn to be more efficient, and less lonely wives through the friendship offered.

One evening a month isn't too much to take away from the children, parents or otherwise empty apartment, and it may be just what is needed by a "waiting wife."

DONALD DEVICH

It is not enough that we work; it is also important how we work. The manner in which we do things often means more than what we do. A child may not do the best of work, but its eager tries win and warm the adult heart.

It is not enough to speak to people; how we speak counts, too. "I'm happy to have you stay with me," means much when it is filled with loving sincerity. The accommodations may not be the best, but you are quick to overlook that for the sake of not offending such gracious giving.

On the other hand, if someone says, "You can take it or leave it; it's up to you," and mixes these words with the chill from the North Pole, you are apt to look elsewhere, even though the accommodations may be fine.

It is good that we give gifts, but the spirit in which we give more often than not means more than the gift itself. To give begrudgingly makes the giving and taking very unpleasant. To do things graciously is to be a credit to yourself and others. It is a way that the giver and receiver both find an inner reward.

To be gracious means to be kind and courteous in our manner. It means to be sociable, markedly pleasant and at ease. It implies warmth and approachability, kindliness and courtesy, especially to inferiors. It is a beautiful garment of graciousness.

Christians are encouraged to be gracious in all things. When Paul spoke about making contributions for a relief fund, he referred to it as "this gracious work." He stated that Christian giving should be done graciously, not "grudgingly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver." We should feel uplifted for having given. II Cor. 9:7.

What a changed world this would be if all would be just a little more gracious! Think what a pleasure shopping, bus and subway riding would be! To be waited on courteously and kindly would bring the best out in us. Would not a little graciousness improve employer and employee relationships?

One test showed that where employers were gracious and encouraged their employees, the energy soared sharply. But when they found fault and grumbled about the work, the energy curve plunged downward.

Gracious giving and living cost us nothing, yet they are as essential to life as bread and water. Next time you deal with people, be a little more gracious and you will be the better for it.

Stamps In The News

A quarter of a century ago the islands of Papua and New Guinea were the scenes of violent military action which raged on the land, sea and air of this part of the globe. As a tribute to the 25th anniversary of the War in the Pacific, Papua and New Guinea have issued four new stamps depicting scenes of battle.

The 2 cents shows a plane attacking ships off Milne Bay. The 5 cents illustrates Allied troops moving towards the enemy on the Kokoda Trail. The 20 cents features "coastwatchers," who hid in the hills and reported the movement of enemy planes and ships. The 50 cents shows the Battle of the Coral Sea.

IT IS IRONICAL, in light of the above issue, that the United Nations should announce it will produce new commemorative stamps on the theme "Towards Disarmament." The new U.N. stamps will be issued in denominations of 6 cents green and blue, and 13 cents green and red. The actual design of the stamp has not as yet been announced. As one observer noted, it would be a good idea if the design featured a man banging his head against the wall.

MEXICO has issued a new 40 centavos stamp commemorating the centenary of the Degollado Theatre in Guadalajara. The theatre has a long and interesting history. Construction was ordered in 1855 by Governor Santos Degollado who named it the "Teatro Alarcon" but soon afterwards the governor died and the name was changed to its present one. It opened in 1866 with Lucia di Lammermoor — but the final construction was not completed until 1888 when it changed its fare to vaudeville. It was nearly destroyed by fire in 1909 and finally inaugurated again in 1941. The opening performance — Lucia di Lammermoor.

THE OVERCAST SKY grew darker and the wind suddenly switched, coming from the north, driving before it a cold rain and causing the temperature to drop rapidly into the 40's. Then the fish started biting, striking anything offered them as if they hadn't eaten in a year.

This was Sunday, Aug. 20, the first day of a week's fishing trip into the northern reaches of Ontario, Canada, for myself, my father Lester R. Stewart of Ohio Ave.,—my son, Jeff, and a friend, Junior Yeater of Chester.

We were fishing on Shiner's Lake, approximately 100 miles northwest of Timmins. It is some 850 miles from East Liverpool by car, plus another 23 miles back into the bush by a logging freight train.

We left for Canada about noon Friday, figuring this would give us at least four hours leeway to make connections with the train. As it turned out, we could have waited almost another 12 hours before leaving because, as we were told, the train follows no exact schedule. It was late and we spent more than 10 hours in the village of Foleyet, which has a population of maybe 100.

It was cold when we arrived at Foleyet, but by mid-afternoon, the temperature was about 60. After loading our gear onto the "way-freight" car we were soon rolling back through country unbelieveably rugged and just as unbelievably beautiful.

THE CONDUCTOR and brakeman alerted us when we neared our destination, a mileage marker on the line, and helped unload our gear. When we stepped off, there first appeared to be no sign of a path that would lead us to our cabin. This was quickly located, and just a short distance away stood our home for the next few days—a log cabin with mud chinking. It proved to be very comfortable.

Saturday evening after our arrival we fished briefly for an hour, but all were too tired to go at it with any vigor. Arising early the next morning we were greeted by grim looking skies and by the time breakfast was over it was apparent the weather had worsened.

It rained and blew all day, but this did not keep us from fishing. And the first day proved to be the best so far as catches went.

We caught 30 nice pickerel, or walleye, of 2 to 3½ pounds plus 15 northern pike. I landed a 6½ pound pickerel late in the evening.

ALL HAD PLENTY of clothing and longjohns were the order of the day. The cold became so acute on the lake it became difficult to handle a rod and reel, but none was willing to quit because of the good fishing.

Jeff caught his first pike in the morning. It weighed in at 4½ pounds, which isn't a large one, but for him it was the biggest of his life. Just watching him land the fish and the look on his face when we got it in the boat was enough to make the trip a complete success for myself.

That night we wolfed down a big meal of fillets rolled in cracker meal and fried in a big castiron skillet. If you have never tasted fresh fish cooked in the wilderness shortly after they were caught, there is no way of describing the experience.

There were several large loons on the lake, and their call, which could be described as haunting, lulled us to sleep that night.

During the day my father and Junior saw two moose running down the shoreline. Jeff and I were on another part of the lake and did not see them. On the return trip home, just a few miles from Foleyet, a cow moose wandered out onto the road in front of the car. This was the first one I had ever seen, and it is difficult to believe the size these animals attain.

THE LAKE WAS inhabited by many ducks, seagulls, beaver and otters, while the surrounding countryside contained bear and many other species of wildlife.

The second day the weather improved somewhat, but the fishing was not as good. We caught 22 pike and 7 pickerel and several perch. The sky started clearing and it got warmer. Jeff saw a red fox along the shoreline and although it ran, like most of the wildlife, it did not appear overly frightened by man.

The weather completely cleared on the following day, and while the pickerel didn't hit as well, the pike made up for it.

We caught several ranging from 5 to 10 pounds which we released and of course it was the same old fishermen's lament, we lost several big ones. I concentrated for two days on attempting to hook a large pike. I finally did, but I lost it because I became lazy.

Dad also had a large one on. It hit at the edge of the boat, sprayed water over him and Junior, then headed for the bottom where it stayed until it broke loose in a thick weed bed.

We had a new fishing experience. While trying out various lures we came across three "soft plugs" in the tackle box. These are made of extremely pliable rubber.

Fished slowly over the weed beds they attracted more pike than any other. The northerns would come up and bump them. When the fish found the plug to be soft, it would hold it in its mouth and shake it sideways, all the time attempting to crush the bait. Then it would start swallowing the lure, slowly swimming away.

As the water was very clear and in some places there was white sand on the bottom, you could sit quietly in the boat and watch the entire process. If you were over a weed bed you could not see the fish, but could feel it shake the lure.

WHEN THE PIKE would start swimming away, we would give it free line, count to 10 and then yank. The pike would have swallowed the lure and the hooks would be easily set in it's soft throat. Otherwise you would lose them. The pike have hard, boney mouths and it is hard to set a hook in one.

Jeff and I were casting over a weed bed one afternoon and had caught several fish. When one that appeared to weigh only 5 or 6 pounds followed the lure, I would reel in the line quickly. I grew tired of removing them from the hook.

A small one followed my lure, and I literally jerked it out of his mouth. The fish whirled away and I cast out ahead of the direction in which it was heading.

Almost immediately I got another strike. I commented it probably was the small one again and decided to jerk so as not to hook it. Jeff said "You don't know whether it is or not. Better let him take it and count to 10."

I started counting, decided against it and jerked. The northern broke the water a few feet away and it was the one I had been trying for. It looked like a monster at least 36 to 40 inches long. The plug was set in the side of its mouth. I managed to hold him for maybe two minutes, but a few more lunges and the plug tore loose. I found it doesn't pay to be lazy.

THE WEATHER was sunny and warm during the day, but at night it dropped as low as 40. Heavy clothing was necessary, even in the sun, because of the coolness of the wind.

The sunsets were very beautiful and inspiring. The evening beams lit the tall pines and spruce trees, creating a colorful picture with white birch trees for a contrast.

The young loons provided comedy for the trip. They could not dive like their parents and would flap their stubby little wings and attempt to walk on top of the water.

The fog rising from the lake would linger in shady spots until midmorning when the sun would reach it. Moved by the wind, long columns of fog seemed to dance along the shoreline. Like many Canadian lakes, the shoreline was covered with heavy brush and piles of dead trees, bleached white by the sun and wind.

The silence is one of the first things you really notice. But then you listen and it becomes very noisy. The animals and waterfowl calling continually, along with the buzz of thousands of mosquitoes.

A little tip to anyone traveling to the bush country. If you find that regular repellants do not work for you, and sometimes they don't, try some Listerine. It works like a charm. Just rub it on your hands and face and any exposed skin.

WE WERE visited one night by a bear. While we never seen any, we heard this one about 2 o'clock in the morning. It rattled through some tin cans—all garbage was kept outside the cabin for this reason—and then bumped against the rear wall. We discovered it had attempted to crawl up the rear to a window, leaving large claw marks on the wood. It managed to tear loose a small piece of tarpaper near the top and its claw apparently darkened by the tar, could easily be seen on the window screen.

We waited until morning to investigate.

Everywhere you looked, the force of nature was evident. Huge, barren rocks sticking from the ground, bearing the deep marks of the glaciers that had gouged out most of Canada's lakes.

The absence of small birds was very evident. I only saw one and it was a wren.

Jeff caught two leeches which inhabited the lake and kept them for three days. He wanted to bring them back with him, but decided his mother wouldn't permit the creatures in the house. They could stretch out to more than 5 inches.

We managed to catch more fish than we wanted to eat, or bring back. None would capture any prizes, but they could be caught in goodly numbers. The lake only contained pickerel, pike and perch. It was too far north for bass.

A small lake less than two miles from the cabin was teeming with trout. We didn't portage in because of the roughness of the country.

FOLEYET IS located some 66 miles from Timmins. Less than 10 years ago there was no road to it. The only way in and out was by train. The main street is dirt, about two blocks long. There are no sidewalks and is inhabited largely by Canadians who work for the Canadian National Railroad and Indians.

The train we were on hauled freight into the far reaches of the north where autos are virtually unknown. Back in the bush we saw two deserted villages, once booming logging towns. It was like looking at a piece of the past.

The prices of commodities are very high, for everything is trucked in or brought in by train. Gasoline cost 58 cents per gallon. A very small can of lighter fluid was 38 cents. Cigarettes were 48 cents a pack.

At the "hotel," a boarding house for loggers and road construction workers, one egg and a couple of pieces of bacon cost $1. There was little fresh milk at the Hudson's Bay store and it cost 98 cents per half gallon. A case of soft drinks in cans was $4. Gasoline at other villages back in the bush ran as high as 85 to 90 cents a gallon.

Huge, husky dogs wandered around at will. The local inhabitants ignored them, but they were enough to scare the daylights out of me.

No newspapers were available, and there were only six television antennas showing from roof tops. I was told one station could be received.

The railroad is the center of life for the community. When a train was due to arrive, many of the villagers came to the station to watch it come in, see who got off, what products were unloaded and watch it depart.

The "way-freight" car has seats for 24 passengers, and the remainder of the space is utilized for baggage. It is heated by a coal stove. The train was late departing to carry us into the back country and more than four hours late coming out. After this length of time, one begins to wonder if it is coming to pick you up.

Talking with an engineer, we learned the temperature falls to 42 degrees below zero in the winter and the ice is more than three foot thick on the lakes.

SOMETIMES IT was necessary to use pliers to remove the hook from the mouth of walleyes, and here Junior Yeater goes about the job.

THE LONE CABIN on a lake in northern Ontario, Canada, was located in this small clearing, and was "home" for Harry Stewart, Review outdoor editor, and his party during their stay there. The only way in or out is either by logging train or float plane.

TWO LARGE PIKE landed just a few minutes apart are proudly displayed by Jeff Stewart.

The Lighter Side

By ROBERT POPP

NINETY DAYS after Defense Secretary Robert McNamara ordered a barbed wire and electronic barrier erected below the demilitarized zone in Vietnam, he met with top officers of the Corps of Engineers, the Inspector General's Office and the Central Intelligence Agency for an assessment of the results.

"The intent of this physical barricade, as you all know, was to halt infiltration from the north," McNamara told the assembled generals.

"We have concentrated all our efforts on this new concept for the last three months. Thousands of infantrymen were assigned to aid the Engineer troops in this vast undertaking. Air and surface transport alike concentrated on this project. We assigned the highest priority to barbed wire and metal posts and classified electronic gear.

"To make more transport space available, we put a temporary embargo on shipment of fresh strawberries for the officer's mess and held up the dispatch of new air conditioning equipment for Gen. Westmoreland's headquarters.

Three professional football players who were en route to Saigon at great personal sacrifice to entertain the troops agreed most gracefully to travel by surface transport rather than by air. I tell you there was no end of sacrifice to make this program a reality.

"Today we are ready to assess the value of this program. We will hear first from the Corps of Engineers.

GEN. ULYSSES G. Coolidge arose with a sheaf of papers in his hand to give his report.

"We have shipped 37 million miles of barbed wire to Saigon," he said. "Also, we consigned 5 million heavy metal posts on which to string the wire. The electronic gear is classified and I will not mention it even in a whisper. Suffice it to say that we shipped an adequate quantity.

"Three and a half miles of the fence are in place. About four miles of posts have been set, but the wire is not strung just at present. A limited amount of the electronic gear is in operation. Fifty thousand troops are working on this program around the clock."

McNamara looked troubled, but simply indicated to the Inspector General's aide that it was time for his report.

"There has been a certain, ah, shrinkage in the amount of wire shipped and the quantity actually in place along the line," the colonel reported.

"Balancing the amount in service against the tons shipped, we must hold you accountable for roughly 36½ million miles of the best quality barbed wire and approximately 2½ million posts," he told McNamara. "Of course some more of it may turn up and it will be credited against the amount we will withhold from your salary in equal monthly installments."

McNamara, aghast, looked to the CIA man for an answer.

"THIS IS awkward, very awkward," the intelligence agent replied uncertainly. "But the shrinkage is there, just as the IG officer reported."

"Fifty of our best agents have worked for a month to find the loopholes. We have accounted for most of the wire and a great number of the posts. Should I continue?"

"Certainly," McNamara replied. "We must have a full report. Of course it will be classified 'Top Secret' because of the military implications. Proceed."

The CIA man pulled out an old library card and began to refer to the near-indecipherable notes on the back.

"Our investigation discloses that 10 million miles of the wire and approximately 500,000 of the posts disappeared on the docks at Saigon," he said. "The material has been sold on the black market and most of it has been bought up by manufacturers of pedicabs and bicycles as scrap to go into the steel furnaces. That much is understandable.

"The balance of the wire and most of the posts have disappeared from the line as quickly as they were put in place. There is no question it was taken by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars.

"Our reports out of Hanoi show that this metal has formed the backbone of the Communist war effort for the last 60 days. They have smelted it to produce bullets and shells of all calibers, rifles, machineguns and even some field guns.

"OUR STOLEN barbed wire has been turned into helmets, bayonets, mortar tubes and machinegun tripods.

"It seems that North Vietnam now has an unprecedented supply of steel, thanks to our barricade. It's right there for the taking, they don't have to run any risks in having it shipped in.

"Lately the supply of steel has become so plentiful that the Communists have released a large quantity for consumer goods. They are turning out cooking pots, roller skates, bicycles, bobby pins, horseshoes, typewriters and traffic lights.

"But that did not exhaust the supply of steel. One of our agents smuggled out a most amazing picture.

"The photo shows an automobile obviously copied from an American design. It's in a showroom in the center of Hanoi, a shiny red vehicle resplendent with chrome. There's a sign in five Vietnamese characters that we haven't translated yet. The picture shows long lines of pedestrians waiting to examine this car at close range. It tops anything ever made in Southeast Asia until now."

"Let me see that photograph," McNamara demanded. It showed a large auto with twin headlights in the front, a hood tapering almost to a point and a grill vaguely resembling a horsecollar. The tail lights resembled two exclamation points set into the rear fenders on a sharp angle.

A broad smile wreathed McNamara's face and he leaned back in his chair with a sigh of satisfaction.

"I have been vindicated at last," he shouted, his eyes glittering behind his glasses. "That's the 1958 Edsel. I knew it would find a market!"

Forgetting his nonplussed audience, he punched all five buttons on his desk with a single sweep of his hand.

"More barbed wire for Viet Nam!" McNamara shouted. "Keep 'em rolling!"

A little tip to anyone traveling to the bush country. If you find that regular repellants do not work for you, and sometimes they don't, try some Listerine. It works like a charm. Just rub it on your hands and face and any exposed skin.

WE WERE visited one night by a bear. While we never seen any, we heard this one about 2 o'clock in the morning. It rattled through some tin cans—all garbage was kept outside the cabin for this reason—and then bumped against the rear wall. We discovered it had attempted to crawl up the rear to a window, leaving large claw marks on the wood. It managed to tear loose a small piece of tarpaper near the top and its claw apparently darkened by the tar, could easily be seen on the window screen.

We waited until morning to investigate.

Everywhere you looked, the force of nature was evident. Huge, barren rocks sticking from the ground, bearing the deep marks of the glaciers that had gouged out most of Canada's lakes.

The absence of small birds was very evident. I only saw one and it was a wren.

Jeff caught two leeches which inhabited the lake and kept them for three days. He wanted to bring them back with him, but decided his mother wouldn't permit the creatures in the house. They could stretch out to more than 5 inches.

We managed to catch more fish than we wanted to eat, or bring back. None would capture any prizes, but they could be caught in goodly numbers. The lake only contained pickerel, pike and perch. It was too far north for bass.

A small lake less than two miles from the cabin was teeming with trout. We didn't portage in because of the roughness of the country.

FOLEYET IS located some 66 miles from Timmins. Less than 10 years ago there was no road to it. The only way in and out was by train. The main street is dirt, about two blocks long. There are no sidewalks and is inhabited largely by Canadians who work for the Canadian National Railroad and Indians.

The train we were on hauled freight into the far reaches of the north where autos are virtually unknown. Back in the bush we saw two deserted villages, once booming logging towns. It was like looking at a piece of the past.

The prices of commodities are very high, for everything is trucked in or brought in by train. Gasoline cost 58 cents per gallon. A very small can of lighter fluid was 38 cents. Cigarettes were 48 cents a pack.

At the "hotel," a boarding house for loggers and road construction workers, one egg and a couple of pieces of bacon cost $1. There was little fresh milk at the Hudson's Bay store and it cost 98 cents per half gallon. A case of soft drinks in cans was $4. Gasoline at other villages back in the bush ran as high as 85 to 90 cents a gallon.

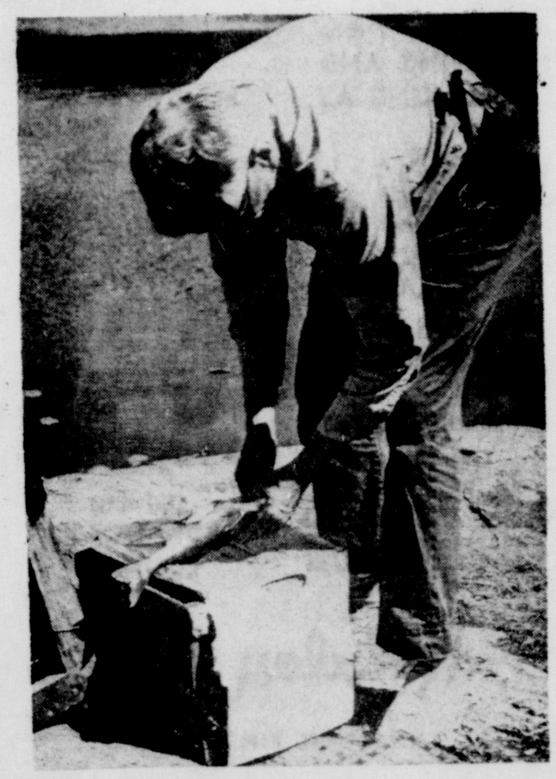
Huge, husky dogs wandered around at will. The local inhabitants ignored them, but they were enough to scare the daylights out of me.

No newspapers were available, and there were only six television antennas showing from roof tops. I was told one station could be received.

The railroad is the center of life for the community. When a train was due to arrive, many of the villagers came to the station to watch it come in, see who got off, what products were unloaded and watch it depart.

The "way-freight" car has seats for 24 passengers, and the remainder of the space is utilized for baggage. It is heated by a coal stove. The train was late departing to carry us into the back country and more than four hours late coming out. After this length of time, one begins to wonder if it is coming to pick you up.

Talking with an engineer, we learned the temperature falls to 42 degrees below zero in the winter and the ice is more than three foot thick on the lakes.



CLEANING FISH for supper is Lester R. Stewart of Ohio Ave., father of the Review's outdoor editor.

SOMETIMES IT was necessary to use pliers to remove the hook from the mouth of walleyes, and here Junior Yeater goes about the job.

THE LONE CABIN on a lake in northern Ontario, Canada, was located in this small clearing, and was "home" for Harry Stewart, Review outdoor editor, and his party during their stay there. The only way in or out is either by logging train or float plane.

TWO LARGE PIKE landed just a few minutes apart are proudly displayed by Jeff Stewart.

A WALLEYE, called pickerel in Canada, is examined by Harry Stewart, outdoors editor, who caught the 6½-pounder the day after arriving in northern Ontario.

The Lighter Side

By ROBERT POPP

NINETY DAYS after Defense Secretary Robert McNamara ordered a barbed wire and electronic barrier erected below the demilitarized zone in Vietnam, he met with top officers of the Corps of Engineers, the Inspector General's Office and the Central Intelligence Agency for an assessment of the results.

"The intent of this physical barricade, as you all know, was to halt infiltration from the north," McNamara told the assembled generals.

"We have concentrated all our efforts on this new concept for the last three months. Thousands of infantrymen were assigned to aid the Engineer troops in this vast undertaking. Air and surface transport alike concentrated on this project. We assigned the highest priority to barbed wire and metal posts and classified electronic gear.

"To make more transport space available, we put a temporary embargo on shipment of fresh strawberries for the officer's mess and held up the dispatch of new air conditioning equipment for Gen. Westmoreland's headquarters.

Three professional football players who were en route to Saigon at great personal sacrifice to entertain the troops agreed most gracefully to travel by surface transport rather than by air. I tell you there was no end of sacrifice to make this program a reality.

"Today we are ready to assess the value of this program. We will hear first from the Corps of Engineers.

GEN. ULYSSES G. Coolidge arose with a sheaf of papers in his hand to give his report.

"We have shipped 37 million miles of barbed wire to Saigon," he said. "Also, we consigned 5 million heavy metal posts on which to string the wire. The electronic gear is classified and I will not mention it even in a whisper. Suffice it to say that we shipped an adequate quantity.

"Three and a half miles of the fence are in place. About four miles of posts have been set, but the wire is not strung just at present. A limited amount of the electronic gear is in operation. Fifty thousand troops are working on this program around the clock."

McNamara looked troubled, but simply indicated to the Inspector General's aide that it was time for his report.

"There has been a certain, ah, shrinkage in the amount of wire shipped and the quantity actually in place along the line," the colonel reported.

"Balancing the amount in service against the tons shipped, we must hold you accountable for roughly 36½ million miles of the best quality barbed wire and approximately 2½ million posts," he told McNamara. "Of course some more of it may turn up and it will be credited against the amount we will withhold from your salary in equal monthly installments."

McNamara, aghast, looked to the CIA man for an answer.

"THIS IS awkward, very awkward," the intelligence agent replied uncertainly. "But the shrinkage is there, just as the IG officer reported."

"Fifty of our best agents have worked for a month to find the loopholes. We have accounted for most of the wire and a great number of the posts. Should I continue?"

"Certainly," McNamara replied. "We must have a full report. Of course it will be classified 'Top Secret' because of the military implications. Proceed."

The CIA man pulled out an old library card and began to refer to the near-indecipherable notes on the back.

"Our investigation discloses that 10 million miles of the wire and approximately 500,000 of the posts disappeared on the docks at Saigon," he said. "The material has been sold on the black market and most of it has been bought up by manufacturers of pedicabs and bicycles as scrap to go into the steel furnaces. That much is understandable.

"The balance of the wire and most of the posts have disappeared from the line as quickly as they were put in place. There is no question it was taken by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars.

"Our reports out of Hanoi show that this metal has formed the backbone of the Communist war effort for the last 60 days. They have smelted it to produce bullets and shells of all calibers, rifles, machineguns and even some field guns.

"OUR STOLEN barbed wire has been turned into helmets, bayonets, mortar tubes and machinegun tripods.

"It seems that North Vietnam now has an unprecedented supply of steel, thanks to our barricade. It's right there for the taking, they don't have to run any risks in having it shipped in.

"Lately the supply of steel has become so plentiful that the Communists have released a large quantity for consumer goods. They are turning out cooking pots, roller skates, bicycles, bobby pins, horseshoes, typewriters and traffic lights.

"But that did not exhaust the supply of steel. One of our agents smuggled out a most amazing picture.

"The photo shows an automobile obviously copied from an American design. It's in a showroom in the center of Hanoi, a shiny red vehicle resplendent with chrome. There's a sign in five Vietnamese characters that we haven't translated yet. The picture shows long lines of pedestrians waiting to examine this car at close range. It tops anything ever made in Southeast Asia until now."

"Let me see that photograph," McNamara demanded. It showed a large auto with twin headlights in the front, a hood tapering almost to a point and a grill vaguely resembling a horsecollar. The tail lights resembled two exclamation points set into the rear fenders on a sharp angle.

A broad smile wreathed McNamara's face and he leaned back in his chair with a sigh of satisfaction.

"I have been vindicated at last," he shouted, his eyes glittering behind his glasses. "That's the 1958 Edsel. I knew it would find a market!"

Forgetting his nonplussed audience, he punched all five buttons on his desk with a single sweep of his hand.

"More barbed wire for Viet Nam!" McNamara shouted. "Keep 'em rolling!"

Drink Permit Stirs Protest

LISBON — West Township trustees and residents are opposing an application for a D-2 permit for Spring Valley Diner operated by Virginia Faust.

County commissioners will advise the State Board of Liquor Control about the objections. The state recently informed the county of the permit application and the commissioners asked West Township trustees for their reaction.

A D-2 permit authorizes sale of high-powered beer and wine for on - premises consumption and carry-out.

The trustees said they are opposed to a permit "as the township was voted dry some 30 years ago."

Fifty residents signed a statement of opposition which says: "Said West Township was voted dry some years ago. We feel that we have a good township due to the fact that no liquor permits have been issued within its boundaries. We want it to stay the same."

The Rev. Robert A. Randolph of East Rochester Methodist Church opposed the permit "as a minister of the gospel and the pastor of people that have voted their desire for a dry township."

Commissioners Thursday vacated a portion of Columbian Rd. in Sections 34 and 35, Liverpool Township, on petition of N. Richard Forzano, Bonnie Forzano, William E. Blair Jr. and Marilyn Blair. They said their properties abut the road which has not been used for 21 years.

Heer Printing Co., Columbus, received a $664 contract to furnish supplies needed for the sale of 1968 dog licenses.

Commissioners took under study nine bids for dormitory style beds at the County Home.

2 Scholarships Awarded During Grange Meeting

Two $100 nursing scholarships were granted during Thursday night's meeting of the Hookstown Grange.

Receiving them were Alma Steele of Clinton RD 1, who is entering nurses' training at Montefiore Hospital in Pittsburgh, and Linda Middlemus of Hookstown RD 1, who is a second-year student at Sewickley Valley Hospital. They are graduates of South Side High School.

Refreshments were served by the Home Economics Group and Miss Mary Thompson.

It was announced that Miss Barbara Steele, a grange member, is a patient at Rochester General Hospital.

Officers will be elected when the grange meets Sept. 21 at 8 p.m.

Pomona Grange will meet Saturday at 2 and 7 p. m. at the Center Grange. The fifth degree will be conferred during the evening session.

Wilson Policies Get Trades Union Okay

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—The Trades Union Congress set aside its complaints about Prime Minister Harold Wilson's economic freeze policies long enough today to give the Labor party a rousing vote of confidence.

The TUC, in its windup session after a week of oratory, much of it blistering the government, adopted a resolution reaffirming support for the Labor regime with a loud chorus of "ayes."

Brawl Trials Due Tuesday

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Friday set hearings tentatively for Tuesday at 9 a.m. for three Washington County (Pa.) men charged with assault with deadly weapons in a brawl early Wednesday in the Diamond Restaurant in which two local men and one of the defendants were hospitalized.

Jack Boyer, 24, and Raymond J. Boyer, 18, pleaded not guilty at arraignment today on the assault charges and intoxication counts. They are represented by George Hannah, a Burgettstown attorney. Ronald Boyer, 22, entered not guilty pleas on both charges Wednesday. He is represented by J. Michael Kapp.

Appearance bonds of all three men are set at $2,500. The judge said the hearings will be held Tuesday provided the appearance of all the witnesses can be arranged.

Police arrested the three Burgettstown men following a fracas at 1:40 a.m. in which they said the three defendants wielded broken beer bottles as weapons. The defendants are charged with assault on George Whitney, 23, of 2123 Ohio Ave., who was hospitalized after he was hit on the head with a bottle.

Larry Pridemore, 25, of 1803 Michigan Ave., also was injured in the fight. He is hospitalized with a deep laceration of the lower back.

Jack Boyer was hospitalized for two days with a stab wound of the left shoulder area.

'Flying Object' Makes Rounds In Sharon District

SHARON, Pa. (AP)—"I guess you can say I'm one of those nuts, too," said Police Sgt. James Reeher of Sharon. "I don't know what it is but I saw it."

Reeher was one of dozens of persons in this Mercer County community who reported sighting an unidentified flying object two nights in a row.

Reeher said the latest sighting was Thursday night—30 minutes after a power failure affected 6,000 homes.

"It is large and mostly white, but the center has an orange cast," he said. "After a while it broke up, and pieces that looked like molten metal fell down."

Reeher said all firemen on duty also saw the object. He said he didn't believe there was any connection between the sighting and the blackout, which the West Penn Power Co. blamed on a transformer failure.

Fines Assessed In Traffic Cases

LISBON—Charles W. Barber of Columbiana was fined $20 and costs Friday by Judge J. L. MacDonald in Columbiana County Southwest Court for failure to properly register a towed motor vehicle.

Fined $15 and costs for speeding were D. K. Eiferd, East Liverpool MC 22; Jack Baddeley, 375 W. Pershing St., Salem; Joseph G. Rufus, Warrensville Heights, and Billy W. Berkenstock and Marvin O. Bell, both of Akron. Ellis S. Pedrick of Youngstown was fined $15 and costs for passing traffic in a hazardous zone.

Forfeiting appearance bonds were Jesse E. Spencer of Lisbon RD 3, Buster J. Stewart of Warren, Glen Willey of Cuyahoga Falls and Gerald S. Main of Claysville, Pa., all charged with speeding, $20 each, and George Sharrard of Canton, defective headlights, $15.

Drink Permit Stirs Protest

LISBON — West Township trustees and residents are opposing an application for a D-2 permit for Spring Valley Diner operated by Virginia Faust.

County commissioners will advise the State Board of Liquor Control about the objections. The state recently informed the county of the permit application and the commissioners asked West Township trustees for their reaction.

A D-2 permit authorizes sale of high-powered beer and wine for on - premises consumption and carry-out.

The trustees said they are opposed to a permit "as the township was voted dry some 30 years ago."

Fifty residents signed a statement of opposition which says: "Said West Township was voted dry some years ago. We feel that we have a good township due to the fact that no liquor permits have been issued within its boundaries. We want it to stay the same."

The Rev. Robert A. Randolph of East Rochester Methodist Church opposed the permit "as a minister of the gospel and the pastor of people that have voted their desire for a dry township."

Commissioners Thursday vacated a portion of Columbian Rd. in Sections 34 and 35, Liverpool Township, on petition of N. Richard Forzano, Bonnie Forzano, William E. Blair Jr. and Marilyn Blair. They said their properties abut the road which has not been used for 21 years.

Heer Printing Co., Columbus, received a $664 contract to furnish supplies needed for the sale of 1968 dog licenses.

Commissioners took under study nine bids for dormitory style beds at the County Home.

2 Scholarships Awarded During Grange Meeting

Two $100 nursing scholarships were granted during Thursday night's meeting of the Hookstown Grange.

Receiving them were Alma Steele of Clinton RD 1, who is entering nurses' training at Montefiore Hospital in Pittsburgh, and Linda Middlemus of Hookstown RD 1, who is a second-year student at Sewickley Valley Hospital. They are graduates of South Side High School.

Refreshments were served by the Home Economics Group and Miss Mary Thompson.

It was announced that Miss Barbara Steele, a grange member, is a patient at Rochester General Hospital.

Officers will be elected when the grange meets Sept. 21 at 8 p.m.

Pomona Grange will meet Saturday at 2 and 7 p. m. at the Center Grange. The fifth degree will be conferred during the evening session.

Wilson Policies Get Trades Union Okay

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—The Trades Union Congress set aside its complaints about Prime Minister Harold Wilson's economic freeze policies long enough today to give the Labor party a rousing vote of confidence.

The TUC, in its windup session after a week of oratory, much of it blistering the government, adopted a resolution reaffirming support for the Labor regime with a loud chorus of "ayes."

Brawl Trials Due Tuesday

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Friday set hearings tentatively for Tuesday at 9 a.m. for three Washington County (Pa.) men charged with assault with deadly weapons in a brawl early Wednesday in the Diamond Restaurant in which two local men and one of the defendants were hospitalized.

Jack Boyer, 24, and Raymond J. Boyer, 18, pleaded not guilty at arraignment today on the assault charges and intoxication counts. They are represented by George Hannah, a Burgettstown attorney. Ronald Boyer, 22, entered not guilty pleas on both charges Wednesday. He is represented by J. Michael Kapp.

Appearance bonds of all three men are set at $2,500. The judge said the hearings will be held Tuesday provided the appearance of all the witnesses can be arranged.

Police arrested the three Burgettstown men following a fracas at 1:40 a.m. in which they said the three defendants wielded broken beer bottles as weapons. The defendants are charged with assault on George Whitney, 23, of 2123 Ohio Ave., who was hospitalized after he was hit on the head with a bottle.

Larry Pridemore, 25, of 1803 Michigan Ave., also was injured in the fight. He is hospitalized with a deep laceration of the lower back.

Jack Boyer was hospitalized for two days with a stab wound of the left shoulder area.

'Flying Object' Makes Rounds In Sharon District

SHARON, Pa. (AP)—"I guess you can say I'm one of those nuts, too," said Police Sgt. James Reeher of Sharon. "I don't know what it is but I saw it."

Reeher was one of dozens of persons in this Mercer County community who reported sighting an unidentified flying object two nights in a row.

Reeher said the latest sighting was Thursday night—30 minutes after a power failure affected 6,000 homes.

"It is large and mostly white, but the center has an orange cast," he said. "After a while it broke up, and pieces that looked like molten metal fell down."

Reeher said all firemen on duty also saw the object. He said he didn't believe there was any connection between the sighting and the blackout, which the West Penn Power Co. blamed on a transformer failure.

Fines Assessed In Traffic Cases

LISBON—Charles W. Barber of Columbiana was fined $20 and costs Friday by Judge J. L. MacDonald in Columbiana County Southwest Court for failure to properly register a towed motor vehicle.

Fined $15 and costs for speeding were D. K. Eiferd, East Liverpool MC 22; Jack Baddeley, 375 W. Pershing St., Salem; Joseph G. Rufus, Warrensville Heights, and Billy W. Berkenstock and Marvin O. Bell, both of Akron. Ellis S. Pedrick of Youngstown was fined $15 and costs for passing traffic in a hazardous zone.

Forfeiting appearance bonds were Jesse E. Spencer of Lisbon RD 3, Buster J. Stewart of Warren, Glen Willey of Cuyahoga Falls and Gerald S. Main of Claysville, Pa., all charged with speeding, $20 each, and George Sharrard of Canton, defective headlights, $15.

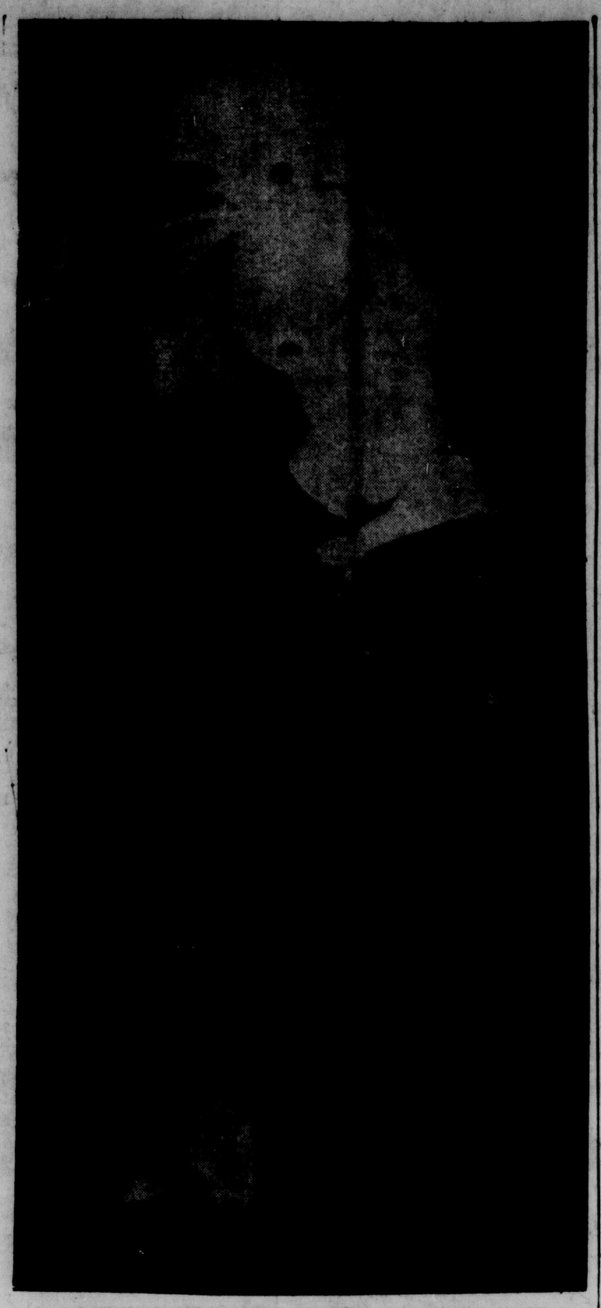
Potters Roll Over Cleveland East In Grid Opener



GREAT SCOTT. Sam Scott, East Liverpool's scatback, is caught by Cleveland East defender. Scott gained 104 yards on 10 carries.

S. Scott Rushes For 104 Yards

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The Blue Bombers from Cleveland East High invaded Patterson Field last night and were shot down by the East Liverpool high football team by a 36-0 score.

Unheralded Sam Scott, a 5-5, 132 pound senior, stepped in after an injury to Jim Musuraca and ended up the leading rusher of the night, gaining 104 yards on 10 carries. He also had two good plays nullified by penalties.

The Potters led 14-0 at halftime and put the game out of reach with two third quarter scores. Mike McVay scored the first three touchdowns for the locals, despite carrying only once in the second half because he was affected by the heat. It was extremely hot and muggy on the playing field and Ray (Zeb) Boyd, playing center in place of the injured Jim Bess, actually collapsed from heat prostration.

Potter coach Bob McNea said that the timing of the team suffered from the numerous small injuries. Musuraca sprained an ankle late in the first quarter and did not return to action, and Bill Hopper dislocated a knuckle in the second half.

The second half was played almost exclusively in Cleveland's territory. A fumble recovery set the Potters up on the visitor's 31. Scott went over left tackle to the 13, with the last man, Conkle, bringing him down to stop a TD. For a change the Bombers' defense held, but another fumble, with Cochran recovering, gave the locals the ball on the 19 and this time they were not to be denied. Scott got a first down on the 9, and McVay came off the bench on a fourth and one play to take a pitchout and bull into the end zone, taking two tacklers with him. Diddle hit Nelson Clark for the conversion.

A poor punt set up the next score. Tom Sullins sliced one out of bounds on the 28, only 13 yards from scrimmage. Diddle threw one incompletion, but on the next play faked to a runner going into the line, faked a pitchout and then handed off to Scott on a reverse. The play went for a touchdown to make it 28-0.

Tom Chambers stopped a Cleveland drive with an interception on the seven. The Potters drove to the Bomber 35 before stalling. A tough defense stopped the visitors cold, and the offensive unit got the ball on the Cleveland 31, and scored in one play, a Diddle to Herb Purton screen pass.

Against the third string, the visitors made their only sustained drive of the night, from their own 28 to the Potter 20. The highlight of the series was a run by Barber. With scrimmage on the 28, he retreated to the 50, eluded pursuers, ran to the left up to the line of scrimmage, ran back to the right, and then forward, where he collided with a teammate and fell, exhausted. The play gained eight yards.

By judicious use of the blitz, East Liverpool caught Barber for losses six times for a total of 61 yards. Thus the net Cleveland, ground attack was only 87 yards, despite 95 yards gained on 22 carries by Curley Harris.

Diddle, who completed 4 of 8 passes, with one interception, was never thrown for a loss. In addition to Scott's yardage, McVay gained 49 on 10 carries, Bill Jones 46 on seven, Musuraca 31 on five, Diddle 9 on two, Purton 3 on one and Clark 3 on three. The four completions were to four different receivers.

McNea praised the team for hustle and extra effort. He was glad to win the first one, the fifth straight opening game win for the locals, and is now awaiting Midland, which shows here next week.

The locals did look ragged at times. Two scores were set up by fumble recoveries and another by a poor punt.

Musuraca carried three straight times following the opening kickoff, racking up two first downs. An Earl Diddle pass was intercepted by Jim Conkle and returned 16 yards to the Clevland 39. The Bombers drove for two first downs to the Potters 39, but here Mike Jackson, the 123-pound "monster man", made his presence felt. He twice caught opposing runners for losses, nailing left-handed scrambling quarterback Ted Barber 11 yards back on third down to force a punting situation. Cleveland had almost hit the scoreboard on this series of downs, however, as Barber connected with Pete Prevo, who caught the ball on the four and went into the end zone, but the play was nullified by a holding penalty.

Following the punt, the winners marched 68 yards in 12 plays with McVay going through a hole opened by Bob Jones for the last four yards. Key plays on the drive were a pass from Diddle to Musuraca and a sweep by Scott to the seven. Diddle passed to McVay to make it 8-0. The locals almost scored again on the next series of downs when Diddle returned a punt 66 yards, but the play was called back because of a penalty.

In the second period a fumble recovery by Don Cochran, his first of two, set up the second Potter score. A McVay punt which barely bounced into the end zone put the losers on their own 20 and Cochran came up with the ball on the 17 after the center snap was fumbled on the third play. McVay got all the yardage on the four play drive, going in from the two with great second effort. He then shifted to the quarterback position on the extra point try, but his pass to Scott didn't connect.

Yanks Gain 5-2 Nod Over Boston

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Monbouquette doesn't hold a grudge against the Boston Red Sox. He just pitches that way.

Monbouquette, traded away by the Red Sox last season and ignored by them when he was released by Detroit this season, hurled the New York Yankees to a 5-2 victory over his former teammates Friday night, preventing them from taking over first place in the American League.

That spot went to both Detroit, conqueror of Chicago by a 4-1 count, and Minnesota, which split a doubleheader with Baltimore, 7-2 and 3-5. The Red Sox are in third place, half a game out, and the White Sox are a full game off the pace.

"I think it only natural to get satisfaction in beating a team which lets you go," Monbouquette said after the game. "Don't get me wrong, though, I hope the Red Sox win the pennant. I have a lot of friends on the club."

The 31-year-old right-hander has pitched brilliantly for the Yankees, the only team that would take a chance on him when the Tigers cut him loose earlier in the season.

Against the Red Sox, he allowed eight hits and struck out four before leaving the game in the seventh. Just to rub it in, he singled twice and scored a run.

In other American League action Friday, Cleveland topped Kansas City 6-3 and California blanked Washington 4-0.

In the National League, Cincinnati split two with New York, winning 3-0 and losing 5-4, Philadelphia downed Atlanta 4-1, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 4-3 in 10 innings, Los Angeles took Houston 4-2 and San Francisco whipped Chicago 4-3.

The Tigers climbed into the first-place tie on the strength of homers by Eddie Mathews and Jim Northrup and fine pitching by Mickey Lolich, who got relief help from Fred Lasher.

Mathews' shot was his fifth since joining the Tigers, his 15th of the season and the 508th of his career. Up ahead looms Mel Ott with 511 lifetime homers, sixth on the all-time list.

In Baltimore, the Twins made threatening noises in the late innings of the nightcap, but Pete Richert proved equal to the task and pitched his way out of two jams.

He got out Cesar Tovar and Harmon Killebrew with two runners on in the seventh and extricated himself from a bases-loaded, none-out jam with just one run in the eighth.

The Orioles scored four runs in the second, one on Dave Johnson's homer. In the opener, Killebrew hit a two-run shot and Jim Merritt hurled a six-hitter.

Tony Horton hit a grand slam homer in the first inning in the Indians' triumph over the Athletics, and Rickey Clark threw a two-hitter for the Angels, beating the Senators.

Lisbon Defeats Southern Local

Veteran coach Bud Bucher, who returned to the helm this season at Lisbon, watched his Blue Devils open the 1967 campaign with a 27-6 victory over Southern Local Friday night before a large turnout at the Southern gridiron.

Lisbon struck for three touchdowns in the second period to carry a 20-0 lead into the dressing room at halftime and then added its final touchdown in the third quarter for a 27-0 bulge before Southern broke the scoring silence with a TD in the final period.

Fullback John Morgan plunged over from one yard out to start Lisbon's scoring parade in the second stanza. The touchdown marked the end of a 60-yard drive. Randy Muntean added the extra point on a placement.

Later in the period Muntean, on a quarterback sneak, went three yards for a tally.

The third TD of the period was turned in by the defense when Mike Rutecki intercepted a Southern pass and raced 51 yards to paydirt. Muntean added the conversion.

The Blue Devils pushed across their final six - pointer when Bill Farmer climaxed a 50-yard drive by scoring from four yards out.

Southern averted a shutout when Dan Felton went over from the two to end a 40-yard drive late in the fourth period.

Lisbon had a lopsided edge in statistics showing a 12-3 margin in first downs. From scrimmage the Blue Devils gained 195 yards but didn't rely much on their air attack showing only one completion in two attempts.

Lisbon's defensive forces allowed Southern a net of 60 yards rushing while Beau Bell's team completed one of six passes for 29 yards.

Nobody likes to be second best but it'll do just fine for one of five teams in the National League's September struggle.

Just five games separate five clubs who hope to play bridesmaid to St. Louis this season. The Cardinals, headed for the pennant, hold a commanding 10½ game lead but after that it's an oldtime National League scramble.

In the second place showdown game Friday night, San Francisco trimmed Chicago 4-3 and took the lead in the runner-up derby.

Pittsburgh went 10 innings before edging the first-place Cardinals 4-3; Philadelphia dropped Atlanta 4-1; Cincinnati split with New York, winning 3-0 before losing 5-4, and Los Angeles topped Houston 4-2.

In the American League, Detroit moved into a first place tie with Minnesota. The Tigers defeated Chicago 4-1 while the Twins split with Baltimore, winning 7-2 and losing 5-3. Boston dropped one-half game back, losing to New York 5-2. California blanked Washington 4-0 and Cleveland dropped Kansas City 6-3 in other games.

The Giants were trailing the Cubs 3-2 with two out in the bottom of the ninth. But Jimmy Davenport's pinch triple drove home Jim Hart with the tying run and then pitcher Ray Sadecki singled Davenport across with the winner for the Giants' seventh straight victory.

Hart had doubled and tripled, scoring each of the Giants' first two runs against Joe Niekro. Sadecki allowed six hits and all the Cubs' runs in the first three innings and then settled down, permitting just two hits the rest of the way.

The victory put the Giants a full game up on the Cubs and 1½ in front of fourth-place Cincinnati. The Reds got a sharp two-hitter from Mel Queen, who shut out the Mets in the first game. But rookie Tom Seaver beat Cincinnati in the nightcap.

Queen struck out 10 and got all the offense he needed in the second inning when Leo Cardenas singled one run home and Tommy Harper drove in two more with a hit.

Seaver got late-inning help from Ron Taylor and recorded his 13th victory, tying the Met club record set by Al Jackson in 1963. Tony Perez and Vada Pinson homered for the Reds.

Philadelphia, in fifth place, is four games back of the Giants, after beating Atlanta and dropping the sixth-place Braves five games back.

Rick Wise hurled a four-hitter for his first career victory over the Braves and Bill White's bases-loaded single keyed a three-run Phillie first. Joe Torre homered for Atlanta.

Gene Alley tripled, opening the 10th inning for Pittsburgh, and then scored on Maury Wills' single as the Pirates edged the Cardinals. It was only the third loss in the last 10 games for St. Louis and all of them have been against Pittsburgh.

Alley's two-out, hit-and-run double had scored Roberto Clemente with the tying run in the eighth for the Pirates,

Ron Fairly cracked a two-out, two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth inning as Los Angeles tagged Houston with its ninth straight loss. Jimmy Wynn homered for the Astros.

Remish Runs 80 Yards But Rebels Lose

MINERAL RIDGE — Joe Remish returned the opening kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown to open Crestview's 1967 campaign but Mineral Ridge rebounded for five TD's to score a 40-6 victory over the visiting Rebels here Friday night.

After Mineral Ridge got over the original shock of Remish's long run, the Ridgers went in front in the first quarter on a 15 yard run by Bob Kitt. Ron Cameron passed to Glen Vandergrift for the two - point conversion and an 8-6 lead.

In the second period Kitt ran 20 yards to give the winners a 16-6 halftime lead.

Mineral Ridge scored twice in the third period on a 30 yard pass from Cameron to Vandergrift then later on a 10 yard sprint by Smith. Swaney took a 12-yard pass from Cameron to complete the scoring in the final period.

The game was an Inter-League contest.

Graebner, Scott Pull Upsets In Tennis Play

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — They call themselves the "steely boys" because both use the new, revolutionary steel rackets.

When the National Tennis Championships began, you could have got 100-1 odds that the two of them wouldn't get to the semifinals. They've both been in the Davis Cup doghouse and neither is pointing to a job for winning back the big trophy.

But they're America's new and surprising hopes today when this aged grass court classic decided who will play for the men's singles crown in Sunday's final. The United States hasn't had a champion since Tony Trabert in 1955.

They are Clark Graebner, 23, bespectacled, scholarly-looking son of a Cleveland dentist, renowned largely as a doubles specialist, and Gene Scott, 29, a Yale graduate, a practicing lawyer on Wall Street who is only a part-time tournament player.

Both pulled staggering upsets in the quarter-finals Friday to give American tennis a shot in the arm that it hasn't had in nearly a decade.

Graebner, seeded seventh, used a crackling service and a pair of strong, halfback legs in winning a three-hour cliffhanger from Roy Emerson of Australia, twice winner of this tournament, 8-6, 3-6, 19-17, 6-1. The third set alone lasted 1½ hours.

Scott, who has played only four tournaments this summer and is ranked 16th nationally, turned back Owen Davidson, the big Australian southpaw 6-3, 8-6, 9-7.

The New York lawyer will need every legal device—plus some—in his semifinal match today. He plays John Newcombe, the Australian who won Wimbledon and is the seeded No. 1 favorite. The 23-year-old Newk toppled Bob Hewitt of South Africa 4-6, 6-0, 7-5, 6-3.

Graebner's opponent is the sensational Jan Leschly, 26-year-old Danish druggist who has become the dreaded tournament dark-horse. Leschly, with previous wins over fifth-seeded Cliff Drysdale, Frank Froehling and Thomas Koch, won a five-set back-breaker from Brazil's Ron Barnes 7-9, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., looks like a cinch to add the American to her Wimbledon women's title. She plays Francoise Durr of France, a backcourt retriever, in the semifinals today. The other semifinal sends second-seeded Ann Haydon Jones of Britain against Lesley Turner of Australia.

Mrs. King advanced with a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Annett Van Zyl of South Africa while Miss Durr beat Valerie Ziegnfuss of San Diego, Calif., 6-0, 6-3. Mrs. Jones and Miss Turner advanced the day before.

Ohio State led the Big 10 in rushing four years in a row, 1954-57.

Stanton Keeps Winning, Rallies To Top Hopedale

Ken Woods, former Wellsville mentor, made a successful coaching debut at Stanton Local when the Red Raiders came to life in the second half to hand visiting Hopedale a 19-6 setback before a packed house of some 1,700 Friday night.

Trailing 6-0 at intermission, Stanton, an undefeated powerhouse in Class A ranks a year ago, ran its victory streak over two seasons to 10 in a row by scoring once in the third period and twice in the final quarter.

Hopedale only dented Stanton territory once during the night and that came midway through the second quarter when Gene Banks raced 75 yards for the visitors' lone touchdown. A run for the two-point conversion failed.

The score remained 6-0 at halftime but in the third period Stanton went in front for good when Dave Olesky hit Larry Hooper with a 10-yard touchdown pass that climaxed a 65-yard drive. Furbee sent the Raiders in front by booting the extra point.

Early in the fourth quarter, Stanton marched 65 yards with Tice scoring his first of two touchdowns by bulling over from one yard out. The conversion kick failed.

Stanton's strong defensive forces, which allowed Hopedale into its territory on only one occasion, were led by junior Bill Koehnlein who blocked two punts, his second block leading to a touchdown.

Tice scored the final TD on a plunge from the one foot line. The Raiders had recovered the blocked punt on Hopedale's 25-yard line. A placement for the extra point again failed.

Stanton showed a 13-2 edge in first downs. The Red Raiders travel to Mt. Pleasant next Friday night.

Nicklaus Solid Favorite To Capture World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus goes into the World Series of Golf today a solid favorite to take the top prize of $50,000.

Nicklaus cooled the possibilities of an upset Friday when he took on his opponents in a practice round and was the only one in the championship foursome to break par of 35-35--70 at the Firestone Country Club.

Nicklaus warmed up for the 36-hole, two-day event with a 67 or 69, depending on how you look at it. He was credited with a 67, but insisted on 69, penalizing himself for hitting out of bounds on the 16th hole.

Regardless, Nicklaus was the only player to break par. British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo had a 71, while Masters champion Gay Brewer took a 73 and Don January, the PGA titlist, shot 76.

Nicklaus putted well in the practice round and sank a 60-footer for an eagle three on the second hole and dropped a 50-footer for a birdie two on No 15.

Nicklaus, the leading money winner on the pro tour with official earnings of $156,000 this year, should find playing for $50,000 no handicap.

Potters Roll Over Cleveland East In Grid Opener

GREAT SCOTT. Sam Scott, East Liverpool's scatback, is caught by Cleveland East defender. Scott gained 104 yards on 10 carries.

S. Scott Rushes For 104 Yards

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The Blue Bombers from Cleveland East High invaded Patterson Field last night and were shot down by the East Liverpool high football team by a 36-0 score.

Unheralded Sam Scott, a 5-5, 132 pound senior, stepped in after an injury to Jim Musuraca and ended up the leading rusher of the night, gaining 104 yards on 10 carries. He also had two good plays nullified by penalties.

The Potters led 14-0 at half-time and put the game out of reach with two third quarter scores. Mike McVay scored the first three touchdowns for the locals, despite carrying only once in the second half because he was affected by the heat. It was extremely hot and muggy on the playing field and Ray (Zeb) Boyd, playing center in place of the injured Jim Bess, actually collapsed from heat prostration.

Potter coach Bob McNea said that the timing of the team suffered from the numerous small injuries. Musuraca sprained an ankle late in the first quarter and did not return to action, and Bill Hopper dislocated a knuckle in the second half.

The locals did look ragged at times. Two scores were set up by fumble recoveries and another by a poor punt.

Musuraca carried three straight times following the opening kickoff, racking up two first downs. An Earl Diddle pass was intercepted by Jim Conkle and returned 16 yards to the Clevland 39. The Bombers drove for two first downs to the Potters 39, but here Mike Jackson, the 123-pound "monster man", made his presence felt. He twice caught opposing runners for losses, nailing left-handed scrambling quarterback Ted Barber 11 yards back on third down to force a punting situation. Cleveland had almost hit the scoreboard on this series of downs, however, as Barber connected with Pete Prevo, who caught the ball on the four and went into the end zone, but the play was nullified by a holding penalty.

Following the punt, the winners marched 68 yards in 12 plays with McVay going through a hole opened by Bob Jones for the last four yards. Key plays on the drive were a pass from Diddle to Musuraca and a sweep by Scott to the seven. Diddle passed to McVay to make it 8-0. The locals almost scored again on the next series of downs when Diddle returned a punt 66 yards, but the play was called back because of a penalty.

In the second period a fumble recovery by Don Cochran, his first of two, set up the second Potter score. A McVay punt which barely bounced into the end zone put the losers on their own 20 and Cochran came up with the ball on the 17 after the center snap was fumbled on the third play. McVay got all the yardage on the four play drive, going in from the two with great second effort. He then shifted to the quarterback position on the extra point try, but his pass to Scott didn't connect.

The second half was played almost exclusively in Cleveland's territory. A fumble recovery set the Potters up on the visitor's 31. Scott went over left tackle to the 13, with the last man, Conkle, bringing him down to stop a TD. For a change the Bombers' defense held, but another fumble, with Cochran recovering, gave the locals the ball on the 19 and this time they were not to be denied. Scott got a first down on the 9, and McVay came off the bench on a fourth and one play to take a pitchout and bull into the end zone, taking two tacklers with him. Diddle hit Nelson Clark for the conversion.

A poor punt set up the next score. Tom Sullins sliced one out of bounds on the 28, only 13 yards from scrimmage. Diddle threw one incompletion, but on the next play faked to a runner going into the line, faked a pitchout and then handed off to Scott on a reverse. The play went for a touchdown to make it 28-0.

Tom Chambers stopped a Cleveland drive with an interception on the seven. The Potters drove to the Bomber 35 before stalling. A tough defense stopped the visitors cold, and the offensive unit got the ball on the Cleveland 31, and scored in one play, a Diddle to Herb Purton screen pass.

Against the third string, the visitors made their only sustained drive of the night, from their own 28 to the Potter 20. The highlight of the series was a run by Barber. With scrimmage on the 28, he retreated to the 50, eluded pursuers, ran to the left up to the line of scrimmage, ran back to the right, and then forward, where he collided with a teammate and fell, exhausted. The play gained eight yards.

By judicious use of the blitz, East Liverpool caught Barber for losses six times for a total of 61 yards. Thus the net Cleveland, ground attack was only 87 yards, despite 95 yards gained on 22 carries by Curley Harris.

Diddle, who completed 4 of 8 passes, with one interception, was never thrown for a loss. In addition to Scott's yardage, McVay gained 49 on 10 carries, Bill Jones 46 on seven, Musuraca 31 on five, Diddle 9 on two, Purton 3 on one and Clark 3 on three. The four completions were to four different receivers.

McNea praised the team for hustle and extra effort. He was glad to win the first one, the fifth straight opening game win for the locals, and is now awaiting Midland, which shows here next week.

Yanks Gain 5-2 Nod Over Boston

By RON RAPOPORT

Bill Monbouquette doesn't hold a grudge against the Boston Red Sox. He just pitches that way.

Monbouquette, traded away by the Red Sox last season and ignored by them when he was released by Detroit this season, hurled the New York Yankees to a 5-2 victory over his former teammates Friday night, preventing them from taking over first place in the American League.

That spot went to both Detroit, conqueror of Chicago by a 4-1 count, and Minnesota, which split a doubleheader with Baltimore, 7-2 and 3-5. The Red Sox are in third place, half a game out, and the White Sox are a full game off the pace.

"I think it only natural to get satisfaction in beating a team which lets you go," Monbouquette said after the game. "Don't get me wrong, though, I hope the Red Sox win the pennant. I have a lot of friends on the club."

The 31-year-old right-hander has pitched brilliantly for the Yankees, the only team that would take a chance on him when the Tigers cut him loose earlier in the season.

Against the Red Sox, he allowed eight hits and struck out four before leaving the game in the seventh. Just to rub it in, he singled twice and scored a run.

In other American League action Friday, Cleveland topped Kansas City 6-3 and California blanked Washington 4-0.

In the National League, Cincinnati split two with New York, winning 3-0 and losing 5-4, Philadelphia downed Atlanta 4-1, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 4-3 in 10 innings, Los Angeles took Houston 4-2 and San Francisco whipped Chicago 4-3.

The Tigers climbed into the first-place tie on the strength of homers by Eddie Mathews and Jim Northrup and fine pitching by Mickey Lolich, who got relief help from Fred Lasher.

Mathews' shot was his fifth since joining the Tigers, his 15th of the season and the 508th of his career. Up ahead looms Mel Ott with 511 lifetime homers, sixth on the all-time list.

In Baltimore, the Twins made threatening noises in the late innings of the nightcap, but Pete Richert proved equal to the task and pitched his way out of two jams.

He got out Cesar Tovar and Harmon Killebrew with two runners on in the seventh and extricated himself from a bases-loaded, none-out jam with just one run in the eighth.

The Orioles scored four runs in the second, one on Dave Johnson's homer. In the opener, Killebrew hit a two-run shot and Jim Merritt hurled a six-hitter.

Tony Horton hit a grand slam homer in the first inning in the Indians' triumph over the Athletics, and Rickey Clark threw a two-hitter for the Angels, beating the Senators.

Mrs. King advanced with a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Annett Van Zyl of South Africa while Miss Durr beat Valerie Ziegnfuss of San Diego, Calif., 6-0, 6-3. Mrs. Jones and Miss Turner advanced the day before.

Stanton Keeps Winning, Rallies To Top Hopedale

Ken Woods, former Wellsville mentor, made a successful coaching debut at Stanton Local when the Red Raiders came to life in the second half to hand visiting Hopedale a 19-6 setback before a packed house of some 1,700 Friday night.

Trailing 6-0 at intermission, Stanton, an undefeated powerhouse in Class A ranks a year ago, ran its victory streak over two seasons to 10 in a row by scoring once in the third period and twice in the final quarter.

Hopedale only dented Stanton territory once during the night and that came midway through the second quarter when Gene Banks raced 75 yards for the visitors' lone touchdown. A run for the two-point conversion failed.

The score remained 6-0 at halftime but in the third period Stanton went in front for good when Dave Olesky hit Larry Hooper with a 10-yard touchdown pass that climaxed a 65-yard drive. Furbee sent the Raiders in front by booting the extra point.

Early in the fourth quarter, Stanton marched 65 yards with Tice scoring his first of two touchdowns by bulling over from one yard out. The conversion kick failed.

Stanton's strong defensive forces, which allowed Hopedale into its territory on only one occasion, were led by junior Bill Koehnlein who blocked two punts, his second block leading to a touchdown.

Tice scored the final TD on a plunge from the one foot line. The Raiders had recovered the blocked punt on Hopedale's 25-yard line. A placement for the extra point again failed.

Stanton showed a 13-2 edge in first downs. The Red Raiders travel to Mt. Pleasant next Friday night.

Nicklaus Solid Favorite To Capture World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus goes into the World Series of Golf today a solid favorite to take the top prize of $50,000.

Nicklaus cooled the possibilities of an upset Friday when he took on his opponents in a practice round and was the only one in the championship foursome to break par of 35-35--70 at the Firestone Country Club.

Nicklaus warmed up for the 36-hole, two-day event with a 67 or 69, depending on how you look at it. He was credited with a 67, but insisted on 69, penalizing himself for hitting out of bounds on the 16th hole.

Regardless, Nicklaus was the only player to break par. British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo had a 71, while Masters champion Gay Brewer took a 73 and Don January, the PGA titlist, shot 76.

Nicklaus putted well in the practice round and sank a 60-footer for an eagle three on the second hole and dropped a 50-footer for a birdie two on No. 15.

Nicklaus, the leading money winner on the pro tour with official earnings of $156,000 this year, should find playing for $50,000 no handicap.

Midland Swamps Western 25-0

Strong Offensive Paced By Vanlier

By JOHN MUELLER

The Leopards rolled up 18 points in the first two with a smashing 25-0 win over the Golden Bears of Western Beaver high school at the Midland stadium last evening.

The Leopards rolled up 18 poinst in the first two periods, then sat tight as head coach Joe Hamilton substituted freely throughout the second half.

Long runs and a sporadic passing attack by both teams continually brought the crowd to its feet as the Leopards controlled virtually every phase of the game in the first half.

The winners drove 70 yards in eight plays midway through the first period for their first score. Anthony Williams turned left end for the final eight yards with 3:30 remaining in the period. Frank Granito's try for the extra point was low and the Leopards led 6-0.

Midland's second and third touchdowns were scored on long runs by Dave Vanlier. The speedy back went 47 yards for the second TD with 7:55 remaining to play, then scampered 73 yards with 3:55 on the clock. Granito failed to convert after the second TD and Greg Phillips missed the cross bar after the third TD.

Midland's final score came in the opening moments of the last stanza. Granito punted on the final play of the third period and Western Beaver had the ball on its 29-yard-line. A 15 yard penalty against the Leopards on the punt return gave the Golden Beavers a first and ten on their 44-yard-line.

Joe Rasillo was thrown for a 13-yard loss on the first play as he attempted to pass. Two incomplete passes followed and Western Beaver was forced to kick. The pass from center sailed over the head of Charles Barrickman and in the scramble for the ball the Leopards recovered on the one yard line.

Jack Campbell lost a yard and on the following play Howard Leak barreled over center for the score. Midland was penalized five yards for delay of the game as they tried for the conversion. Leak carried into the end zone for the extra point.

Western Beaver mounted two serious threats. The first came just after the midway mark of the second period on a pass from John Petchel to Jim Wilson that carried to the home team's 11-yard-line. A third down pass was intercepted by Vanlier in the end zone.

The Golden Beavers marched 51 yards to the Leopards' 15-yard - line late in the final quarter with Rasillo directing the attack. The threat died as Greg Braund intercepted Rasillo's second down pass on the 10-yard-line and returned it to the locals' 41-yard-stripe.

The Leopards piled up a one sided rushing decision in the first half, gaining 224 yards. Vanlier led the attack with 166 yards.

Exactly what is chutney? It's usually a combination of fruits and vegetables cooked with sugar, vinegar and spices. Chutney is a "must" with curries and is an excellent relish to serve with other meat, fish or egg dishes.

A's-Finley Dispute Goes To Eckert

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The running feud between Kansas City Athletics baseball players and their owner, Charles O. Finley, headed toward a hearing before Commissioner William Eckert as the A's unlimbered further charges Thursday on two fronts.

Eckert announced in New York that the dispute had been set for a hearing Monday in his office.

His announcement had barely been made when the Major League Baseball Players Association filed an unprecedented unfair practices charge against Finley before the National Labor Relations Board.

And Lew Krausse, A's pitcher whose suspension and fine by Finley precipitated the squabble, charged that Finley had intimidated him into making a statement that the owner was justified in his fine and suspension. Krausse also said Finley had repeatedly tried to get him to influence other players to withdraw their request for a grievance hearing before the baseball commissioner.

"He's through scaring me," Krausse was quoted as saying in a copyrighted story in the Kansas City Star. "I love baseball and I owe a lot to it, but if that man doesn't trade me I'll hang up my glove. I don't want to play for Finley again. As soon as you think you can confide in him and trust him he burns you."

It was Aug. 18 that Finley fined Krausse $500 and suspended him indefinitely for alleged misconduct aboard a commercial air liner. The players, through their player representative, pitcher Jack Aker, drafted a statement critical of Finley and immediately afterward Manager Al Dark was fired; first baseman Ken Harrelson, now with the Boston Red Sox, was given his unconditional release, and Aker was fined for allegedly violating curfew.

The action before the Labor Relations Board was filed by Richard Moss, attorney for the Players Association and their executive director, Marvin Miller. It contends Finley has "threatened individual employes in an attempt to coerce them into withdrawing their pending grievances" and "by so doing has interferred with, restrained and coerced players in the exercise of their individual rights which are guaranteed by law."

Two Suits Filed In Tony Lema's Air Crash Death

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Federal court records disclosed Thursday that two damage suits for more than $3 million have been filed against an Illinois air charter service over the death of professional golfer Tony Lema.

Lema and his wife were killed in July 1966 when a private plane crashed near Munster, Ind. They were en route from Akron, Ohio, to Lynwood, Ill.

The First National Bank in Dallas, as executor of the Lema estate, brought the suits against Joliet Air Charter Service, Inc., and Mainline Aviation, Inc., of Joliet, Ill.

One suit asks $1 million in damages for Mrs. Lema's mother, plus $30,000 for hospital bills, funeral expenses and court costs. The other seeks $2 million and similar costs for Lema's mother and son.

Midland Swamps Western 25-0

Strong Offensive Paced By Vanlier

By JOHN MUELLER

The Leopards rolled up 18 points in the first two with a smashing 25-0 win over the Golden Bears of Western Beaver high school at the Midland stadium last evening.

The Leopards rolled up 18 poinst in the first two periods, then sat tight as head coach Joe Hamilton substituted freely throughout the second half.

Long runs and a sporadic passing attack by both teams continually brought the crowd to its feet as the Leopards controlled virtually every phase of the game in the first half.

The winners drove 70 yards in eight plays midway through the first period for their first score. Anthony Williams turned left end for the final eight yards with 3:30 remaining in the period. Frank Granito's try for the extra point was low and the Leopards led 6-0.

Midland's second and third touchdowns were scored on long runs by Dave Vanlier. The speedy back went 47 yards for the second TD with 7:55 remaining to play, then scampered 73 yards with 3:55 on the clock. Granito failed to convert after the second TD and Greg Phillips missed the cross bar after the third TD.

Midland's final score came in the opening moments of the last stanza. Granito punted on the final play of the third period and Western Beaver had the ball on its 29-yard-line. A 15 yard penalty against the Leopards on the punt return gave the Golden Beavers a first and ten on their 44-yard-line.

Joe Rasillo was thrown for a 13-yard loss on the first play as he attempted to pass. Two incomplete passes followed and Western Beaver was forced to kick. The pass from center sailed over the head of Charles Barrickman and in the scramble for the ball the Leopards recovered on the one yard line.

Jack Campbell lost a yard and on the following play Howard Leak barreled over center for the score. Midland was penalized five yards for delay of the game as they tried for the conversion. Leak carried into the end zone for the extra point.

Western Beaver mounted two serious threats. The first came just after the midway mark of the second period on a pass from John Petchel to Jim Wilson that carried to the home team's 11-yard-line. A third down pass was intercepted by Vanlier in the end zone.

The Golden Beavers marched 51 yards to the Leopards' 15-yard - line late in the final quarter with Rasillo directing the attack. The threat died as Greg Braund intercepted Rasillo's second down pass on the 10-yard-line and returned it to the locals' 41-yard-stripe.

The Leopards piled up a one sided rushing decision in the first half, gaining 224 yards. Vanlier led the attack with 166 yards.

A's-Finley Dispute Goes To Eckert

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The running feud between Kansas City Athletics baseball players and their owner, Charles O. Finley, headed toward a hearing before Commissioner William Eckert as the A's unlimbered further charges Thursday on two fronts.

Eckert announced in New York that the dispute had been set for a hearing Monday in his office.

His announcement had barely been made when the Major League Baseball Players Association filed an unprecedented unfair practices charge against Finley before the National Labor Relations Board.

And Lew Krausse, A's pitcher whose suspension and fine by Finley precipitated the squabble, charged that Finley had intimidated him into making a statement that the owner was justified in his fine and suspension. Krausse also said Finley had repeatedly tried to get him to influence other players to withdraw their request for a grievance hearing before the baseball commissioner.

"He's through scaring me," Krausse was quoted as saying in a copyrighted story in the Kansas City Star. "I love baseball and I owe a lot to it, but if that man doesn't trade me I'll hang up my glove. I don't want to play for Finley again. As soon as you think you can confide in him and trust him he burns you."

It was Aug. 18 that Finley fined Krausse $500 and suspended him indefinitely for alleged misconduct aboard a commercial air liner. The players, through their player representative, pitcher Jack Aker, drafted a statement critical of Finley and immediately afterward Manager Al Dark was fired; first baseman Ken Harrelson, now with the Boston Red Sox, was given his unconditional release, and Aker was fined for allegedly violating curfew.

The action before the Labor Relations Board was filed by Richard Moss, attorney for the Players Association and their executive director, Marvin Miller. It contends Finley has "threatened individual employes in an attempt to coerce them into withdrawing their pending grievances" and "by so doing has interferred with, restrained and coerced players in the exercise of their individual rights which are guaranteed by law."

Two Suits Filed In Tony Lema's Air Crash Death

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Federal court records disclosed Thursday that two damage suits for more than $3 million have been filed against an Illinois air charter service over the death of professional golfer Tony Lema.

Lema and his wife were killed in July 1966 when a private plane crashed near Munster, Ind. They were en route from Akron, Ohio, to Lynwood, Ill.

The First National Bank in Dallas, as executor of the Lema estate, brought the suits against Joliet Air Charter Service, Inc., and Mainline Aviation, Inc., of Joliet, Ill.

One suit asks $1 million in damages for Mrs. Lema's mother, plus $30,000 for hospital bills, funeral expenses and court costs. The other seeks $2 million and similar costs for Lema's mother and son.

Exactly what is chutney? It's usually a combination of fruits and vegetables cooked with sugar, vinegar and spices. Chutney is a "must" with curries and is an excellent relish to serve with other meat, fish or egg dishes.

SUPERTOOL OF SCIENCE is this gleaming electron microscope which probes the microstructural components of steels to determine qualities of strength, corrosion resistance and general durability. A stream of electrons is fired from the million-volt accelerator looming above the U.S. Steel technician shown here, through the microscope's lenses at approximately 94 per cent of the speed of light, allowing penetration of thick specimens of steel for study.

Postal Officials Praised For Aid In Stamp Sales

East Liverpool Postmaster Samuel W. Brown is among those commended by Glen R. Johnson, national director of the U.S. Savings Bonds Division, for "leadership and service to the Treasury Department's school savings program."

In a letter to the postmaster, Johnson said, "Today, the School Savings Program is more important than ever. Our children are growing up in a world of tension, of conflict. The challenges they must face are ever increasing. If they are to reap the full benefits of their American heritage they must be prepared to meet these challenges; they must be given positive goals for themselves and their country. The School Savings Program serves not only to teach the habit of thrift but to prepare our young people for some of the responsibilities they have as American citizens."

Savings stamps in five denominations, from 10 cents to $5, are on sale at all times at the post office and on "Stamp Day" in some schools. As pupils fill their albums — which are provided free — they may exchange them for U. S. Savings Bonds at their bank.

Bill Zurzolo, the soccer-style kicker on the Pitt football team, is majoring in Chinese.

Postal Officials Praised For Aid In Stamp Sales

East Liverpool Postmaster Samuel W. Brown is among those commended by Glen R. Johnson, national director of the U.S. Savings Bonds Division, for "leadership and service to the Treasury Department's school savings program."

In a letter to the postmaster, Johnson said, "Today, the School Savings Program is more important than ever. Our children are growing up in a world of tension, of conflict. The challenges they must face are ever increasing. If they are to reap the full benefits of their American heritage they must be prepared to meet these challenges; they must be given positive goals for themselves and their country. The School Savings Program serves not only to teach the habit of thrift but to prepare our young people for some of the responsibilities they have as American citizens."

Savings stamps in five denominations, from 10 cents to $5, are on sale at all times at the post office and on "Stamp Day" in some schools. As pupils fill their albums — which are provided free — they may exchange them for U. S. Savings Bonds at their bank.

WURLITZER
MUSIC LABORATORY

NEW Music Learning Center
...a Modern Breakthrough in Piano Instruction

"I LIKE THE EARPHONES"
Teacher, or "pilot," speaks into the earphones, "Cadets, fasten your earphones" . . . and the youngsters zoom into action on their Electronic Pianos. Enthusiasm is contagious and excitement runs high.

"I LIKE THE SOUND"
Children like playing on Electronic Pianos — the touch and response, the way the volume can be regulated, the fact that the pianos are electronic. The Space Age instrument is for them!

"WE LIKE PLAYING TOGETHER"
Just as in arithmetic and language classes, children like studying together. And desire for group approval encourages the development of perseverance and concentration.

"AS A TEACHER, I LIKE THE WURLITZER ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATION CENTER"

This monitoring system enables the teacher to communicate verbally and musically with individuals or groups through earphones. Now youngsters can learn music with the new, accelerated group method—including sight reading, improvising melodies, even composing — AND ALSO ENJOY THE BENEFITS OF INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION.

IT'S HERE NOW IN EAST LIVERPOOL

See with your own eyes the youngsters' enthusiasm . . . their concentration . . . the way they learn MUSIC.

NEXT CLASSES START SOON

Classes are scheduled by semesters and beginner classes start soon. The fee is nominal, including lesson materials, payable monthly if you desire. Auditions are currently being conducted for the next semester scheduled to begin soon. To enroll your child phone 385-1622.

WURLITZER MUSIC LABORATORY

NEW Music Learning Center ...a Modern Breakthrough in Piano Instruction

"I LIKE THE EARPHONES"

Teacher, or "pilot," speaks into the earphones, "Cadets, fasten your earphones" . . . and the youngsters zoom into action on their Electronic Pianos. Enthusiasm is contagious and excitement runs high.

"I LIKE THE SOUND"

Children like playing on Electronic Pianos — the touch and response, the way the volume can be regulated, the fact that the pianos are electronic. The Space Age instrument is for them!

"WE LIKE PLAYING TOGETHER"

Just as in arithmetic and language classes, children like studying together. And desire for group approval encourages the development of perseverance and concentration.

"AS A TEACHER, I LIKE THE WURLITZER ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATION CENTER"

This monitoring system enables the teacher to communicate verbally and musically with individuals or groups through earphones. Now youngsters can learn music with the new, accelerated group method—including sight reading, improvising melodies, even composing — AND ALSO ENJOY THE BENEFITS OF INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION.

IT'S HERE NOW IN EAST LIVERPOOL

NEXT CLASSES START SOON

Classes are scheduled by semesters and beginner classes start soon. The fee is nominal, including lesson materials, payable monthly if you desire. Auditions are currently being conducted for the next semester scheduled to begin soon. To enroll your child phone 385-1622.

Junior Editors Quiz on EARTH WEIGHT

QUESTION: How much does the earth weigh?

ANSWER: If you could slip a huge tape measure around the earth as in our picture, you would find that it measures 24,902 miles. This outside measure is earth's cicumference. Weight comes from gravitation pulling things toward the earth's center. The whole mass of the earth, pulling inward in this way, is estimated to give a weight of about 6.6 sextillion tons. Every year, some 2 million tons are added to this weight, because of showers of cosmic dust. The earth is very compact, mostly of rock. A solid inner core, composed of nickel and iron (1), is thought to lie at the center, about 1,630 miles across. Above this rests the outer core (2) of heavy heated rock, probably in a plastic or flowing state. The mantle (3), of heavy rock, rests upon this. The outer shell, about 20 miles thick, contains the seas and continents (4). Below the sea of rock is mostly basalt, but the outer layer of the continents is largely granite, with soil created from this by the action of water and air and the addition of decayed plant and animal matter.

Ford Dispute Begins To Hit Allied Plants

By KIT KINCADE
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union strike against Ford Motor Co. already is affecting the national economy with layoffs in allied industries.

Some of Ford's other 7,000 suppliers said they had not been affected by the strike, but would be if it dragged on.

The 160,000 Ford employes at plants in 25 states walked off the job at midnight Wednesday when their works contract expired. No negotiations on a new contract have been scheduled but union and company representatives will meet Monday to set up a timetable for resumed bargaining.

The Budd Co., one of Ford's major suppliers laid off some 1,000 of its 5,000 workers Friday at a Philadelphia plant where Budd makes stampings, tools and dies for Ford.

The Dana Corp. laid off 800 workers at its frame plants in the Detroit suburbs of Ecorse and Trenton.

The jobs of another 1,000 workers were imperiled at two Raybestos-Manhattan plants in Passaic, N.J., where Ford transmission parts are built.

Among the major vendors who said they would be hurt by a protracted strike were Bendix Corp., Kelsey-Hayes Co., Mcquay-Norris Manufacturing Co. and Aluminum Corp. of America.

Ford's vice president for public relations, Theodore H. Mecke Jr., said the firm probably will pare its advertising budget as a result of the strike.

Ford, ranked as the nation's fourth largest advertiser by the trade publication Advertising Age, spent an estimated $120 million on advertising in 1966, a large chunk of it in the fall when new models are introduced.

Production is continuing at General Motors and Chrysler, although their works contracts expired at the same time.

The UAW, apparently resigned to a long strike, is giving itself two more weeks to boost its $67 million strike war chest.

The union rescheduled from Sept. 23 to Oct. 8 a special convention to raise dues for bolstering the strike fund.

The union's secretary-treasurer, Emil Mazey, said Friday the walkout would last "at least a month."

Mazey said serious bargaining won't resume at Ford until the nation's No. 2 autobuilder begins to run out of its stock of 1968 model cars.

Ford says its supply of 85,000 new models ready for introduction Sept. 21 will last about 30 days. Ford also has about 170,000 1967 models in dealers' hands. "I don't want to give the impression that we won't meet with the company for four weeks," Mazey said. "But there won't be much pressure on the company until that time."

Will Sing During Parade

This area quartet, "The Tall Mrs.," will appear on the annual parade of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Oct. 7 at Westgate School.

The group is comprised of Fay Phillips, Betty Morvatz, Jackie Betz and Donna Reynolds and belongs to the Carroll Tones Chapter from Carrollton.

They were 1967 novice award winners during the regional contest held in the spring at Pittsburgh.

Tom O'Malley of Pittsburgh will serve as master of ceremonies for the eighth annual event.

During the rehearsal Friday night at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex, the uniform committee, headed by Mrs. Hilda Edgar, displayed several costumes for approval.

Mrs. Nancy Beaver, director, and Miss Norma Jones, assistant, conducted practice.

The group will meet again Friday at the annex.

'Pet' Milk Store To Reopen But At 'Non-Bargain' Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The C & D Budget Dairy store is going to re-open, but its milk will no longer be a bargain.

Commonwealth Court banned the United Dairy Farmers, who were running the store, from selling milk billed as pet food at cut rate prices.

But Ernest Hayes of Dawson, president of the dairy farmers group, said the battle with the State Milk Control Commission would go on.

"We've got to keep on fighting," he said after Judge William W. Lipsitt handed down a temporary injunction Friday in Harrisburg, "or there won't be any dairy farmers left in business."

"I can see a wide open fight coming, in Pittsburgh, in Harrisburg and everywhere else," he said.

He said the C & D, which stands for cats and dogs, would go back into business but milk would be $1.08 a gallon, the state regulated price, instead of 79 cents, the bargain price for pets.

The commission argued before the court the store violated the Milk Control Law, a 30-year-old statute that allows the commission to set wholesale and retail prices.

"They sold milk for less than the price set by the commission," said William D. Morgan of Scranton, the commissioner lawyer. "Therefore they have violated the law."

He insisted the advertisements that the milk was for pets was a "sham to circumvent the rules and regulations of the commission."

The farmers' lawyer, Paul A. Simmons of Monongahela, said the commission doesn't have the right to regulate milk for animals.

"No evidence has been presented that this store was established as a sham or subterfuge," he said.

Hayes, however, acknowledged that humans could drink the milk.

"I would say it was as good as any milk you could buy anywhere," he said. "It was labeled for animal use but we couldn't tell people what to do with it after they left the store."

Hayes also struck at commission arguments that the price structure is necessary to protect the industry. He said farmers who marketed their milk through the store got 50 per cent more than they had been getting from dealers at regulated prices.

The commission filed a petition to make the injunction permanent. No date was set for a hearing.

The court postponed a hearing on a suit against a Philadelphia company also selling cut rate milk. It had been scheduled to hear arguments Monday but they were put off until the week of Sept. 25.

The commission wants the Lily Penn Food Stores Inc. cited for contempt for selling milk on partial credit.

The charge was filed by St. Clair Township Constable Lester McElhaney after the woman allegedly stole merchandise at Hill's Department Store at the St. Clair Plaza near Calcutta.

Auto Strikes Rogers Youth

A Rogers area boy received moderate injuries when struck by a car on the outskirts of the village Friday night and an Elkton youth was hurt in a one-car mishap near Route 7.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said John Robert Straub, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Straub of Rogers RD 1, was struck by an auto on Route 154 about 15 feet west of the Rogers limits at 7:45.

Officers said he ran into the path of a westbound 1966 coach operated by Christopher John Starbuck, 19, of Salem, who attempted to stop but struck the boy.

The boy was treated at Salem City Hospital for abrasions of the right side and a laceration of the forehead and was released.

A car operated by Harvey Thomas Richards, 19, of Elkton veered off County Rd. 419 about two miles west of Route 7 at 5:15 p.m., officers said.

The car, headed east, went out of control on a left curve, swerved off the right side, then came back on the highway and went off the north side, hitting a fence.

A passenger in the 1955 coach —Jerry N. Richards, 18, of Elkton — received minor injuries.

The driver was charged with speeding.

Legion Informed Of Patrol Unit's Training Course

LEETONIA —An Ohio Highway Patrol Auxiliary training course is being planned for January, Dale Brenner of Hanoverton told the Columbiana County American Legion Council Friday night at Post 131 here.

The next meeting will be Oct. 13 at Salineville Post 442.

Titles Again Dip On New Vehicles

LISBON — New vehicles titled last month in Columbiana County totaled 469, compared with 558 in July and 530 in August a year ago.

August marked the 10th consecutive month that figures fell below those for the same month a year ago.

The county treasurer received $8,142 from fees collected in Common Pleas Court and the Car Title Department. There were 84 civil cases filed in Common Pleas Court last month, compared with 74 in August last year.

Legislators Hold Cleanup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators agreed in a half-day cleanup session Friday to carry over until January about 90 bills for consideration in a trial run at annual sessions instead of biennial meetings.

The lawmakers, called back to polish up business left hanging at their Aug. 27 recess, sent Gov. James A. Rhodes 100 bills enacted during the windup crush and fixed errors in the new taxes-for-education law.

The errors arose when the house eliminated an immediately effective emergency clause but didn't change reference numbers in the act accordingly.

All pending bills in the legislature, except those carried over for study, were postponed indefinitely.

Among the bills killed was a proposal by Rep. R. R. Hollington Jr. R-56 Shaker Heights and others to legalize limited Sunday liquor sales. House members voted 38-43 against reconsideration of the bill, which ended Friday night without cess.

Rhodes also signed four measures signed by legislative officers, making them law Friday. He has 10 days to review the others.

The four measures provide for licensing of practical nurses insurance department regulation of title companies, advances to counties for sewer and water line construction and use of the great seal of Ohio for official documents only.

Ford Dispute Begins To Hit Allied Plants

By KIT KINCADE
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union strike against Ford Motor Co. already is affecting the national economy with layoffs in allied industries.

Some of Ford's other 7,000 suppliers said they had not been affected by the strike, but would be if it dragged on.

The 160,000 Ford employes at plants in 25 states walked off the job at midnight Wednesday when their works contract expired. No negotiations on a new contract have been scheduled but union and company representatives will meet Monday to set up a timetable for resumed bargaining.

The Budd Co., one of Ford's major suppliers laid off some 1,000 of its 5,000 workers Friday at a Philadelphia plant where Budd makes stampings, tools and dies for Ford.

The Dana Corp. laid off 800 workers at its frame plants in the Detroit suburbs of Ecorse and Trenton.

The jobs of another 1,000 workers were imperiled at two Raybestos-Manhattan plants in Passaic, N.J., where Ford transmission parts are built.

Among the major vendors who said they would be hurt by a protracted strike were Bendix Corp., Kelsey-Hayes Co., Mcquay-Norris Manufacturing Co. and Aluminum Corp. of America.

Ford's vice president for public relations, Theodore H. Mecke Jr., said the firm probably will pare its advertising budget as a result of the strike.

Ford, ranked as the nation's fourth largest advertiser by the trade publication Advertising Age, spent an estimated $120 million on advertising in 1966, a large chunk of it in the fall when new models are introduced.

Production is continuing at General Motors and Chrysler, although their works contracts expired at the same time.

The UAW, apparently resigned to a long strike, is giving itself two more weeks to boost its $67 million strike war chest.

The union rescheduled from Sept. 23 to Oct. 8 a special convention to raise dues for bolstering the strike fund.

The union's secretary-treasurer, Emil Mazey, said Friday the walkout would last "at least a month."

Mazey said serious bargaining won't resume at Ford until the nation's No. 2 autobuilder begins to run out of its stock of 1968 model cars.

Ford says its supply of 85,000 new models ready for introduction Sept. 21 will last about 30 days. Ford also has about 170,000 1967 models in dealers' hands. "I don't want to give the impression that we won't meet with the company for four weeks," Mazey said. "But there won't be much pressure on the company until that time."

'Pet' Milk Store To Reopen But At 'Non-Bargain' Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The C & D Budget Dairy store is going to re-open, but its milk will no longer be a bargain.

Commonwealth Court banned the United Dairy Farmers, who were running the store, from selling milk billed as pet food at cut rate prices.

But Ernest Hayes of Dawson, president of the dairy farmers group, said the battle with the State Milk Control Commission would go on.

"We've got to keep on fighting," he said after Judge William W. Lipsitt handed down a temporary injunction Friday in Harrisburg, "or there won't be any dairy farmers left in business."

"I can see a wide open fight coming, in Pittsburgh, in Harrisburg and everywhere else," he said.

He said the C & D, which stands for cats and dogs, would go back into business but milk would be $1.08 a gallon, the state regulated price, instead of 79 cents, the bargain price for pets.

The commission argued before the court the store violated the Milk Control Law, a 30-year-old statute that allows the commission to set wholesale and retail prices.

"They sold milk for less than the price set by the commission," said William D. Morgan of Scranton, the commissioner lawyer. "Therefore they have violated the law."

He insisted the advertisements that the milk was for pets was a "sham to circumvent the rules and regulations of the commission."

The farmers' lawyer, Paul A. Simmons of Monongahela, said the commission doesn't have the right to regulate milk for animals.

"No evidence has been presented that this store was established as a sham or subterfuge," he said.

Hayes, however, acknowledged that humans could drink the milk.

"I would say it was as good as any milk you could buy anywhere," he said. "It was labeled for animal use but we couldn't tell people what to do with it after they left the store."

Hayes also struck at commission arguments that the price structure is necessary to protect the industry. He said farmers who marketed their milk through the store got 50 per cent more than they had been getting from dealers at regulated prices.

The commission filed a petition to make the injunction permanent. No date was set for a hearing.

The court postponed a hearing on a suit against a Philadelphia company also selling cut rate milk. It had been scheduled to hear arguments Monday but they were put off until the week of Sept. 25.

The commission wants the Lily Penn Food Stores Inc. cited for contempt for selling milk on partial credit.

Legislators Hold Cleanup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators agreed in a half-day cleanup session Friday to carry over until January about 90 bills for consideration in a trial run at annual sessions instead of biennial meetings.

The lawmakers, called back to polish up business left hanging at their Aug. 27 recess, sent Gov. James A. Rhodes 100 bills enacted during the windup crush and fixed errors in the new taxes-for-education law.

The errors arose when the house eliminated an immediately effective emergency clause but didn't change reference numbers in the act accordingly.

All pending bills in the legislature, except those carried over for study, were postponed indefinitely.

Among the bills killed was a proposal by Rep. R. R. Hollington Jr. R-56 Shaker Heights and others to legalize limited Sunday liquor sales. House members voted 38-43 against reconsideration of the bill, which ended Friday night with cess.

Rhodes also signed four measures signed by legislative officers, making them law Friday. He has 10 days to review the others.

The four measures provide for licensing of practical nurses insurance department regulation of title companies, advances to counties for sewer and water line construction and use of the great seal of Ohio for official documents only.
